Jaworski, St. Clair Offer Arguments

Historic Tape Debate Before Top Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski argued his historic case against President Nixon before the Supreme Court today, telling the eight justices that constitutional government "is in serious jeopardy" if the chief executive can defy the courts.

Jaworski led off as the court met in extraordinary session to take up an issue it has never considered before: whether a President must comply with subpoenas such as the one the special prosecutor issued for tapes and documents relating to the cover-up of the Watergate scandal.

James D. St. Clair, the President's chief Watergate lawyer, said in rebuttal that the court should dismiss Jaworski's case on grounds the justices would be involving themselves in the impeachment process now in progress before the House Judicary Committee.

"Only the legislature has the right to conduct an impeachment," St. Clair argued. "The special prosecutor is drawing this court into those proceedings inevitably and inexorably."

Jaworski and St. Clair appeared in the packed, high-ceilinged marble courtroom with their arguments on the issue of whether Nixon constitutionally was correct in invoking the doctrine of executive privilege.

Jaworski, making the central point that the President is subject to Court order, said: "This case goes to the heart of our basic constitutional system. In our view, this form of government is in serious jeopardy."

The prosecutor was only five minutes into his arguments when Justice William O. Douglas began questioning him on another aspect of the case that the court is to decide: whether the Watergate grand jury was within its bounds in naming Nixon an unindicted co-conspirator in the cover-up.

Five other justices quickly joined the questioning. Jaworski told them that his office disclosed the grand jury's citing of the President in order to present a full picture of the Watergate conspiracy and thereby obtain an order from U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica for further evidence.

As for the President's refusal to honor the subpoena for 64 tapes and other records of White House conversations, Jaworski said: "He may be right in how he reads the Constitution. He may be wrong. If he is wrong, who is there to tell him so? What then becomes of our constitutional form of government?"

The effort by Jaworski to get the tapes is titled "The United States v. Richard Nixon, President of the United States." Nixon's effort to prove that no grand jury can name a sitting chief executive as a co-conspirator was titled "Richard Nixon, President of the United States, Nixon v. the United States."

There was no indication when the court might hand down a decision following the three hours of arguments. The court has never before ruled on such a direct confrontation within the government.

Douglas said the grand jury was sending material to the House Judiciary Committee which is conducting an inquiry into whether grounds exist for he impeachment of Nixon, but Jaworski responded:

"The grand jury sent nothing incriminating to the House Committee."

Jaworski agreed with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger that the fact that Nixon was named as a co-conspirator was not enough inself to demonstrate as a basis for obtaining the presidential tapes and conversations.

Justice Lewis F. Powell said Jaworski had said in his brief filed with the court that naming Nixon foreclosed the President's claim of "executive privilege" as a reason for refusing to yield the material. Powell said Jaworski was claiming that the naming of the President reduced him to the status of any other defendant.

Jaworski said the claim of "executive privilege" is not foreclosed, but the situation is such that the claim is "inappropriate."

"It is a factor that is important. That's why we lay stress on it," he said.

Moments later, Jaworski returned to his central argument that Nixon is subject to court order.

"This case goes to the heart of our basic constitutional system," Jaworski said. In our view, this form of government is in serious jeopardy."

The arguments were heard by three Nixon appointees—Burger, Powell and Harry A. Blackmun; one Franklin Roosevelt appointee, Douglas; two Eisenhower appointees, William J. Brennan and Potter Stewart; one Kennedy appointee, Byron J. White; and one Johnson appointee, Thurgood Marshall.

The ninth justice, William H. Rehnquist, removed himself from the case because of his close past ties with former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, one of the six cover-up defendants.

The conversations sought by Jaworski for the cover-up trial range from those held three days after the June 17, 1972 burglary at the Watergate through the March 21, 1973 talks about secret money to buy the silence of Watergate defendants, to April 26, 1973 when Nixon perhaps discussed the significance of the tapes with his former top aide, H.R. Haldeman, one of the six men scheduled to be tried in September on the cover-up charges.

Those tapes requested by Jaworski could be highly crucial to the impeachment inquiry if, as the Watergate grand jury found in naming him an unindicted co-conspirator, Nixon was "a member of the conspiracy to defraud the United States and to obstruct justice."

Even if Jaworski should prevail before the Supreme Court, the subpoenaed material could not be made available to the committee before it plans to start voting on any articles of impeachment.

Under a previous ruling by District Judge John J. Sirica, Jaworski could not see the evidence until the judge screens it for irrelevant and sensitive material—and that could take weeks.

Ehrlichman Denies Approving Break-In WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman took the stand in the plumbers trial today and denied ever approving the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The former White House domestic affairs advisor said moreover, that he was never told a burglary was planned.

One of Ehrlichman's attorneys, Henry H. Jones, asked, "Did you authorize a break-in at Dr. Fielding's offices?"

Ehrlichman: "No sir."

Jones: "Had you ever seen a plan or blueprint, so to speak, for a break-in?"

Ehrlichman: "I never saw that."

The questions came only after U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell sent out the jury and admonished Jones after Ehrlichman had been on the stand for more than two hours.

"You haven't asked one question about the break-in all morning. The jury is sitting there . . . They're interested in the break-in . . .

"You're all around the edges. Let him tell what's in his mind and heart and turn him over for cross-examination and see what happens," said Gesell.

Earlier, Ehrlichman, 49, directly contradicted the testimony of one of the co-directors of the White House special unit which plotted the Sept. 3, 1971, burglary.

Ehrlichman, testifying in his own defense, said he never read files delivered to him by David R. Young, once co-director of the special White House investigative unit known as the plumbers.

Related stories on page 22.

Young has testified that Ehrlichman told him last March that some plumbers' memos "were a little too sensitive and showed too much forethought" about the break-in Sept. 3, 1971.

Ehrlichman and three others are accused of violating the rights of the psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, who was treating Ellsberg, leaker of the Pentagon Papers, at the time of the break-in.

Instead of reading the files at the time the break-in came under formal investigation by the FBI, Ehrlichman testified that he ordered them returned to Young.

Ehrlichman, 49, portrayed his own role in the plumbers operation as merely peripheral.

When the papers were first leaked to the press by Ellsberg, Ehrlichman said he worked with the Justice Department, at President Nixon's behest, to prevent the New York Times and other newspapers from continuing publication of the Vietnam studies.

Ehrlichman quoted Nixon as saying later, in mid-July 1971, "You get back onto domestic policy matters and leave Ellsberg and the Pentagon Papers stuff to the man I designate."

That man was Egil (Bud) Krogh, who frequently reported directly to the President on the investigation into Ellsberg's motives and associates, Ehrlichman said.

Ehrlichman, until last April 30 among the closest of Nixon's inner circle, said the President was fearful that Ellsberg had not acted alone and that there may be more leaks coming in the summer of 1971.

Of the plumbers' files which Young said he reviewed with Ehrlichman, Ehrlichman testified he remembered a busy schedule after the files were delivered March 21 or 22, 1973.

"I remember saying I'm not going to get to this. I'm leaving town for several days ... I'm sure I caused them to be sent back," he testified.

Ehrlichman said the files were sent back to Young's office.

Ellsberg, as a Pentagon and Rand Corp. analyst, was known to have had access, among other things, to contingency plans for the mining of Haiphong Harbor off the coast of North Vietnam.

$100,000 Downtown Fire Probed

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

Authorities continued their investigation today of a weekend two-alarm fire which gutted a large auto parts warehouse on East Strand, resulting in a loss of more than $100,000 according to the owners.

"We feel someone deliberately set it," said Marvin Schildborn, one of the owners of L and M Auto Parts, when contacted by the Freeman. "Someone doesn't want us here," he said, explaining that the firm has been the object of "dozens of burglaries" since he and his partner, Lawrence Gersh, took over the business in 1971. They do business as the Gerhard Corporation, owners of the L and M Auto Parts.

At present, fire officials are lising the cause of the blaze as undetermined pending further investigation by police.

Some 100 paid and volunteer firemen from the city battled the raging inferno throughout the night late Saturday and early Sunday.

Fire fighters were called to the scene shortly after 9:30 p.m. Saturday after receiving a report from police that the two-story warehouse at 222 East Strand was ablaze.

Officials said the fire was already well advanced when they arrived at the scene. Flames were pouring from the roof at the rear of the building, located adjacent to the Rondout Creek, and dense smoke was emitting from the remainder of the structure.

Several major explosions were heard in the building before firemen entered the structure, according to officials, and a second alarm was turned in at 9:54 p.m., which resulted in recall of all off duty paid firemen.

Fire officials said today that it is believed the blasts occurred, when drive shafts stored in the warehouse exploded due to the intense heat.

Firemen were kept from immediately entering the structure to fight the flames by the explosions, officials said.

However, streams of water were poured on the building from outside until the explosions subsided.

Officials said the holocaust originated on the south side (creek side) of the building, but were unable to say for certain today whether the blaze started inside or outside the building.

At least two firemen were said to have suffered minor injuries (smoke inhalation, and a minor eye injury) in battling the blaze. Neither were, however, identified today. Both returned to continue battling the flames, officials said.

The owners of the warehouse said today their loss was at least $100,000, but added it was difficult to immediately determine the exact monetary value of the strucutre and auto parts kept there. They carried no insurance on the building and items inside, they said.

According to Gersh and Schildhorn, at least $3,000 worth of tools were destroyed, along with a tow truck, and a car left with them by a customer.

An estimated 1,000 car doors, more than 200 motors and nearly 400 transmissions were kept in the warehouse along with other auto parts.

"We have to do a complete inventory," Gersh said.

"We want the public to know that despite the fire we are open for business as usual," he added today. "We can still get our customers the parts they need."

All of the city's paid fire companies and four volunteer companies were at the scene to battle the flames.

Nine major pieces of apparatus were used as fire fighters attempted to bring the holocaust under control.

It was well past dawn on Sunday when the last fire truck returned from the scene.

However, several volunteer firemen remained at the two-story wooden structure throughout the day Sunday with a hose connected to a fire hydrant in the event the flames rekindled.

Three Charged in Auto Theft Ring

By JON POWERS

POUGHKEEPSIE

Two Ulster County men — alleged conspirators in a huge auto theft ring that stretched from New York City to Poughkeepsie — have posted $10,000 bail after spending the night in the Dutchess County Jail.

James Cross, 27, of New Paltz, and Ernest Karklins, 30, of Gardiner, were arrested Sunday on charges of criminal possession of stolen property. Both are described as employes of Astro Used Auto Parts on 50 Creek Road in the Town of Poughkeepsie.

Today, police issued a warrant for the operator of the Poughkeepsie car lot, identified as 35-year-old Charles Ingrassia, whose last known address was 61 South Ohioville Road, New Paltz. He is wanted for criminal possession of stolen property, second degree grand larceny criminal mischief.

A barking dog led police to the Astro property, and more than $70,000 worth of stolen cars and auto parts, Friday night.

Police believe that cars were stolen "on order" off the streets of New York City, shipped to Poughkeepsie and then stripped of tires, engines, doors, windows, seats, mirrors, radios, chrome fitting . . . virtually anything that could be sold and used another car.

Town of Poughkeepsie patrolman William Galbraith was on routine patrol Friday night when he heard a dog barking in the vicinity of the Astro lot. He went to investigate, noticed a new car with New York City license plates parked on the property, and filed a computer check with state police headquarters in Albany.

The car, it was reported, had been stolen Thursday night from New York City.

Town of Poughkeepsie Police Chief Richard Hellman ordered the place staked out. Hellman said an employe arrived early Saturday morning, got into the car, and drove it to the rear of the building. Police followed, but by the time they caught up, said Hellman, "he had disconnected the radiator and had the front bumper off."

Police then began a methodical check of the several hundred cars scattered around the Astro lot. The early investigation revealed that 10 cars were stolen (including five that were reported stolen only last week) and police uncovered an assortment of parts believed stolen from 60 other cars during the past several months.

According to Hellman, some of the cars were apparently stolen for one or two specific parts. He said a new Cadillac Eldorado appeared to have been swiped just for its windshield. Police found another new Cadillac sitting in the lot with only its wheel missing.

State Police Investigator George Johansen of White Plains, attached to the BCI's special auto theft investigating unit, has been called in to direct the probe. State police and New York City police officials are probing the actual thefts.

Police expect to make at least one more arrest, and possibly others beyond that. Cross and Karklins were questioned extensively on Saturday before they were formally arrested and arraigned Sunday. They are due for preliminary hearing later this week in Town of Poughkeepsie Justice Court.

Police said they are especially interested in nabbing the thieves who directed the New York City end of the auto theft ring, and who transported the cars to Poughkeepsie.

Blast Rocks River Cruiser

NEWBURGH

Coast Guard investigators are expected to probe the unexplained explosion Sunday night that destroyed a 25-foot cabin crusier as it was docking at the Newburgh Yacht Club on the Hudson River.

Fifteen persons — the youngest was five months old—were on board when the explosion rocked Newburgh's waterfront district. Three were injured, and they remain hospitalized in good condition today.

The Newburgh Police Department said today that the boat was making its second approach at the dock when the craft erupted in smoke and flames about 100 yards from the shoreline. Several passengers were thrown into the water; the rest jumped from the boat to avoid the fire.

With the fire still raging, a line was attached to the bow of the boat and the craft was pulled closer to the dock, where the Newburgh Fire Department pumped water on the blaze.

The fire was all but extinguished when the boat sunk several feet from the pier.

Authorities said today the explosion blew open a hatch and ripped apart a section of the deck planking. It also blew a hole through the bottom of the boat.

One police official said today that an engine backfire may have ignited gas fumes that had accumulated in the craft's bilge. But the 40-year-old wooden craft will have to be brought back to the surface before investigators can determine exactly what happened.

The cruiser, named the "Apple Jack," was owned jointly by John Pehman of Newburgh and William Titherington of Wappingers Falls. The two families, as well as several other guests, had apparently spent Sunday cruising the river.

Seven-year-old William Titherington Jr., the son of one of the owners, sustained first and second degree burns of the left leg. He was taken to Highland Hospital in Beacon.

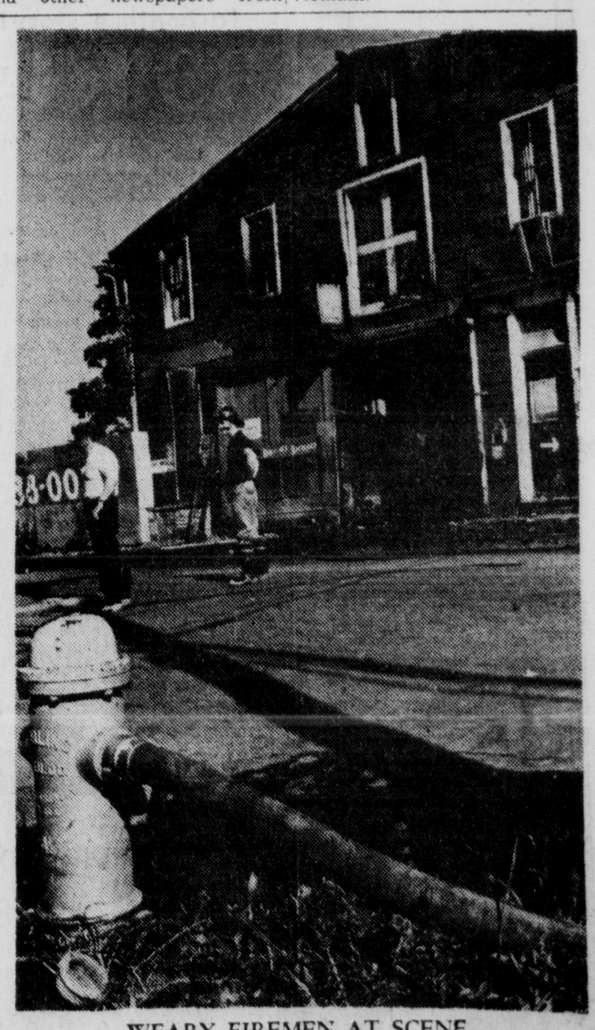

Ronald Johnson, 30, of Wappingers Falls suffered a fractured left arm and John Prestopino, 35, of Newburgh, sustained first and second degree burns of the legs. Both were taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh.

All of the passengers were pulled safely from the water shortly after the explosion. A Coast Guard helicopter equipped with searchlights was dispatched from the Brooklyn Air Station to assist in the rescue, but its services weren't required.

Police said that Coast Guard investigators from New York City were expected to arrive at the scene today. The Coast Guard maintains only one full-time station on the Hudson between New York City and Albany (in Saugerties) and a spokesman there said they weren't on duty this weekend.

Economy Food Plan . . . Cost Is Higher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Weekly grocery bills for a family of four on a low-cost diet rose to $43.90 in May, up 50 cents from April and $2.20 more than at the beginning of 1974, government estimates show.

The May food cost estimates, released today by the Agriculture Department, also showed that food price inflation since January has hit low and moderate income families harder than high income groups.

The estimates showed that May grocery bills, for four-person families on the "Economy" and "Low-Cost Plan" diets drafted by government nutritionists, were 5.3 per cent higher than in January. But weekly food expenses for four-person households able to afford "Moderate-Cost Plan" diets rose only 3.4 per cent for the same period.

For families following a "Liberal Plan" food budget, May costs were only 3.1 per cent above January, the report said.

The May increase in the cost of the sample diets followed a decline in April. The April drop was the first since last October.

Here are the costs of a week's food under the various diet plans from January through May, including the "Economy" plan which is used as the base for calculating benefits to needy people in the Food Stamp program:

Economy —January $33.36; February $34.48; March $34.96; April $34.70; May $35.12.

Low Cost Plan —January $41.70; February $43.10; March $43.70; April $43.40; May $43.90.

Moderate Cost Plan — January $53.20; February $54.80; March $55.10; April $54.50; May $55.

Liberal Plan — January $64.60; February $66.60; March $66.90; April $66.10; Mary $66.60.

Power Authority Set on New Line

LEEDS — New York State Power Authority (SPA) Chairman James A. FitzPatrick reports that the authority is prepared to construct a 345,000-volt transmission line from its Blenheim-Gilboa project to Leeds along a route approved by the Federal Power Commission (FPC).

Construction of the line was authorized by FPC Administrative Law Judge William C. Levy. Levy's order, which is subject to review by the commission, authorized construction of the line for the most part along the northerly alternate route proposed by the SPA which avoids the Durham Valley.

While the authority had preferred a shorter, more direct route FitzPatrick said that if there is no further litigation the authority will construct the line along the route recommended by Levy.

The FPC order received by the authority specifies the route and construction ocnditions for the line, which was licensed in 1969 as part of the million-kilowatt Blenheim-Gilboa project, located 40 miles southwest of Albany. However, its construction has been delayed by litigation over proposed routing. The power project and its two other transmission lines have been compited.

Construction of the line will make the entire state transmission system stronger and more reliable and for that reason, FitzPatrick said, the authority considers the order to be in the best interest of the State.

Three Appointed at Bard College

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON — Three administrative appointments at Bard College have been announced.

Frederick G. Cook has been named head librarian at Bard College. Cook, who has a BA degree from Yale and an MLS degree from Columbia University School of Library Science, comes to Bard from Norwick University, Northfield, Vt., where he held the position of university librarian. He had previously served as government documents librarian, library cataloguer, and reserve librarian at the Wesleyan University Library and the Columbia College Library. He is the author of articles and reviews which have appeared in a number of periodicals, and is an editior of a magazine of poetry, "Jam To-Day."

The new director of admissions at Bard is Alfred W. Brown, Jr., who will arrive on the campus later this month. A graduate of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., he has been assistant director of admissions at Manhattan College, Riverdaly, since 1972. In 1970-71 he was assistant shipping department manager whtih General Foam Plastics in Norfolk, Va., and in 1970-71 he was a radioman with the United States Navy. Prior to entering the Navy, Brown was assistant to the director of admissions at Ithaca College.

Howard Thompson has been appointed associate for deferred giving in the Development Office at the college. Thompson, who has a BA from American University and an MA degree from Columbia, retired this year as vice president for external affairs at Union College, Schenectady, a position he had held since 1968. Previously Thompson served as director of development at Rice University, vice president at American University, and assistant to the vice president for development at Cornell. He holds the rank of Captain (retired) in the United States Naval Reserve.

Trudeau's Liberals Have Edge

Canadians Go to Polls Today

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — A crowd of immigrants cheered Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and booed challenger Robert Stanfield at a picnic, as the two wound up campaigning for the election today of a new House of Commons.

Canadian voters were going to the polls to decide whether Trudeau's Liberals or Stanfield's Conservatives would form the next government. Political experts rated the election a toss-up, though the Liberals have held a narrow lead in every poll. But the polls point to neither party winning a majority, with Canada's second successive minority government as the result.

Trudeau and Stanfield made final campaign appearances Sunday at a huge picnic on a lush island in the midle of Toronto harbor. It was sponsored by a radio station that broadcasts in 32 languages for Canada's large first-generation immigration population, and most of the crowd of 15,000 were immigrants.

Trudeau arrived in the early afternoon in a sport shirt and was mobbed and cheered. The 54-year-old French Canadian leader did a little Greek dance while his 25-year-old wife, Margaret, danced with an elderly Italian woman.

Two hours after the Trudeaus left, Stanfield, 60, showed up in a tie and sports jacket. The crowd had dwindled to about 1,000, and it greeted Stanfield, whose support is strongest among Canada's English-speaking population, with a chorus of boos sprinkled with a few cheers. He got his feet wet while trying to board a boat to leave and hit his head on a low beam as he climbed inside.

Trudeau told the crowd: "Be happy in Canada. Let's make it a great place. Let's make it a great tomorrow."

Stanfield repeated the same theme later.

Mrs. Trudeau drew the biggest response when she said she had gotten in trouble for saying her husband had taught her "a lot about loving." She said she still believes love is a great thing, and she loves her husband and wants "a peaceful, loving country."

Neither Stanfield nor Trudeau mentioned the chief issue in the campaign—inflation, now running at nearly 11 per cent. But Julia Nemeth of Hamilton walked behind Stanfield shouting: "Don't fool the people. Two years ago, I pay 17 cents for bread. Now I pay 36 cents. I want a better life. I don't care whether it's Trudeau or Stanfield. Who's going to give me a better life?"

Stanfield has proposed a 90-day wage and prize freeze to be followed by 18 months of flexible controls. Trudeau says inflation is a worldwide problem and controls won't work in Canada just as they didn't work in the United States or Britain.

Canada's prime minister is the head of the party that wins the largest share of the 264 seats in the House of Commons.

The socialistic New Democrats supported Trudeau's Liberal government until last May, when it accused Trudeau of not doing enough about inflation and withdrew its support. But David Lewis, head of the New Democrats, has promised to keep another minority government in power for "two, three or four years."

If the Conservatives win without support in Quebec, many think the French separatist movement there will flourish again. But if a heavy Liberal vote in Quebec is the decisive factor in returning Trudeau to office, there are predictions that the split between eastern and western Canada will deepen.

Japanese Parliament Election

Tanaka Party Holds Lead

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka's ruling Liberal Democratic party, relying heavily on its strength in conservative rural areas, took a commanding lead today in voting for the upper house of the Japanese parliament.

The opposition, led by the Socialists, scored best in big cities such as Tokyo following a campaign blaming Tanaka for Japan's more than 20 per cent inflation rate.

Projections indicated Tanaka's party would wind up with a small net loss of seats in Sunday's election, but still maintain its absolute majority in the 252-seat upper house of the Diet (parliament).

The upper house can delay, but not defeat, legislation passed by the lower house of the Japanese legislature.

Tanaka's position as prime minister was not at stake, but he had put his personal prestige on the line campaigning strenuously for party candidates across the country.

An election defeat, however, would have hurt Tanaka's chances next year when he comes up for re-election as president and prime minister, posts he has held since 1972.

In unofficial returns for 108 of the 130 contested seats, Tanaka's party won 57 posts to 51 for the opposition —Socialists 25, the Buddhist Komeito party 10, Democratic Socialists 4, Communists 6 and independents 6.

Press, radio and television projections said the prime minister's party would end up with 130 of the 252 upper house seats, a loss of four.

In the old house, the Tanaka party held 134 seats, Socialists 59, Komeito 23, Communists 11, Democratic Socialists 11 and independents six. The remainder was vacant.

The election came at a time when Japan was in its worst price spiral since the Korean War. The opposition has criticized the Tanaka administration for unchecked inflation and his personal popularity was at an all-time low.

Recent opinion polls indicated less than 20 per cent of the Japanese people thought Tanaka was doing a good job compared with 70 per cent two years ago.

Despite rain and drizzle, a record 73 per cent of the 76 million eligible voters cast ballots, topping the 1950 turnout for upper house voting of 70 per cent.

'Matter of Deep Concern'

Aussies Hit French Explosion

CANBERRA (UPI) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam accused France today of setting off a new atmospheric nuclear explosion in the Pacific and said the blast was "a matter of deep concern" to the Australian government.

"The Australian government has reason to believe that France has exploded an atmospheric nuclear device early today," Whitlam said in a statement.

The test, the 37th set off by France in the Pacific since 1964, was believed to have been carried out at the Mururoa Atoll testing area 720 miles southeast of Tahiti.

"I wish to reiterate what I said on June 17 that this further action by the French is a matter of deep concern to the Australian government and that the feelings of the Australian government and the people of Australia against these tests have not changed," Whitlam said.

Whitlam's June 17 remarks came at the start of France's current series of atmospheric nuclear tests in the Pacific. Australia and other Pacific nations have attacked the French explosions sharply.

In Wellington, New Zealand Prime Minister Norman E. Kirk also said there was reason to believe France had exploded a second atmospheric device in the South Pacific. He would not say where the information came from.

Kirk said at a news conference there was also some evidence of fallout from the first French test June 17.

"I don't want to alarm anyone and the recording was very slight, but there is evidence that the tests do affect the level of radioactivity both here and in the territories near us," he said.

Kirk said he had received a reply from French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in which Giscard "lays stress on France's decision to move the tests underground and this is a new element in the French position."

"Nonetheless, my government must continue to insist on the dangers inherent in all nuclear weapons testing and the need to put an end to them," Kirk said.

The latest blast came only three days after Australian Attorney-General Lionel Murphy reopened the case against French nuclear tests before the World Court at The Hague.

France, which never announces its tests in the Pacific beforehand and refuses to confirm whether they have taken place after the fact, was not represented at the hearing. It contends the court has no jurisdiction in its internal security affairs.

Olds Cutlass S

Oldsmobile dealers are more anxious than ever to stir up business. They are in a generous mood for a couple of reasons. First, the 1974 model year is drawing to a close. So your Olds dealer can offer you especially generous year-end savings now—on compact Omega, mid-size Cutlass, family-size Delta 88 or luxurious Ninety-Eight or Toronado. Second, used cars are in short supply, particularly mid-size and full-size models. So your Olds dealer can offer you a very attractive trade allowance. Your savings may never be greater than now. All in all, you couldn't pick a better time to see your Oldsmobile dealer.

Inflation at Crisis Stage

President Nixon just finished a trip to Russia, the U.S. Congress is preoccupied with the impeachment proceedings and the American public is right where it has been for a long time — struggling to recoup lost purchasing power.

According to Treasury Secretary William Simon, the U. S. economy is trapped in an inflationary crisis and there are few tools to curb the climb in prices.

Simon said inflation, ranging at a 13 per cent annual clip, very definitely is being treated as a crisis. It was nice of Mr. Simon to pass this information along, but it is quite obvious that the American public is confronted with this fact during every shopping excursion.

President Nixon summoned his top-level economic advisors, headed by Kenneth Rush, for a last-minute review of the economy before leaving for his trip to Brussels and Moscow.

The report his aides gave him was certainly not cheering, highlighted by the news that the consumer price index soared at a 13.2 per cent annual rate in May, nearly double the April figure.

U. S. workers' real spendable income, after adjustment for taxes and inflation, has dropped nearly five per cent in the past year. The serious implication of this is that workers may press for 10 per cent wage increases to catch up to the rising cost of living. This will only add to the inflation spiral. With the meeting of 10 per cent wage demands, employers would only pass through to consumers the added labor costs of higher wages.

This is the first time in American history in which average hourly earnings have run behind the cost of living for a period of one year. Hardest hit in the inflation crisis are the middle and low income families who have had to tighten their belts and live on a barebone budget.

It is true that President Nixon's trips to foreign countries are important. It is also true that Congress has had an important responsibility in the impeachment proceedings. But it seems that those persons elected to run this country have somehow forgotten that the American public is also important.

Punishment and Crime

Permissive seeds sown in the sixties may be bearing bitter fruit today as is evidenced by blatant incidents of lawlessness, vandalism and malicious mischief that continue to plague our community, as well as every other throughout the nation.

Now concerned citizens are looking to the courts to do their part to stem this tide of irresponsible conduct. A full page ad on another page of this newspaper asks that the Punishment Fit the Crime. It is, basically, a message to our court system that even-handed justice be meted swiftly and judiciously — a message many members of the law abiding community completely concur with.

Too often have we seen the results of exemplary police work dissipated in the courts, either through inordinate delays or supra leniency on the part of the jurist. The message of this advertisement should be heard.

A Touch of Honey

One of parental life's sources of frustration is toddlers' penchant for locking themselves in the bathroom. This demands persuasion — which on occasion is spiced with predictions about what will happen if You Don't Come Right Out!

Other methods work better, as witness what occurred in Columbus, Ohio, when three-year-old Jeffrey McCutcheon locked himself in. Usual means having failed, a fireman summoned to the scene whispered, "Hey, would you like to see a fire truck?" Out walked Jeffrey. Of course, there's not always a fire truck at hand. But it does go to show that honey catches more flies than vinegar.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Fear New Arab Terror Move

WASHINGTON — Arab terrorists may be planning to hijack or blow up airliners bound for the United States in the next few days, according to cables reaching Washington from trusted foreign intelligence agencies.

Two of these sinister warnings have been relayed by Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., privately to House Commerce Committee Chairman Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., in an effort to jar loose Murphy's anti-hijacking legislation.

One of the messages comes from crack Dutch intelligence agents who report an attempt may be made on an outgoing Japan Airlines plane. The cable suggests one of the terrorists may be the same man who tried to free the Arabs who gunned down Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics.

"Two terrorists are staying within the countries of Belgium, Luxemburg, the Netherlands," says the cable.

The men are identified as Lebanese citizens Hawa Ghorge Antoine, 33, and Kab Shaouki, 25. The latter, according to Dutch intelligence, "was involved in an action in Germany trying to liberate the murderers (of) the Olympic games players."

In assessing the plot, Dutch police are assuming that the hijackers will not try to carry weapons aboard themselves, but will smuggle them on jumbo jets "by other ways." To counter this the Dutch recommend instituting "Phase C" security measures.

Under "Phase C," inflight meal containers are searched from hors d'oeuvres to pastries, the catering equipment is scrutinized, service trucks are inspected and even some ground crew members are frisked.

Less detailed but equally ominous information has been received from Japanese intelligence authorities. All airlines at the Tokyo hub airport, according to a confidential cable, have been requested "to tighten security for all flights to the U.S."

The reason: "Airport Police in Tokyo (have) received information of possible bomb warnings on U.S.-bound flights out of Tokyo."

Footnote: Murphy's data agrees with our own confidential reports from the State Department. As we wrote on June 23, U.S. analysts have concluded that new terrorist attacks can be expected against "U.S. targets, including airliners."

BROGER'S BROMIDES: Armed Forces information czar John Broger is setting up a multimillion-dollar computer system to guarantee that U.S. servicemen overseas will be able to hear only the radio news that coincides with his own conservative opinions.

In earlier columns, we have reported how Broger has systematically purged independent-minded newsmen from the taxpayer-supported Stars and Stripes newspaper.

Although Broger refused to talk to us about his computerized radio news programs, memos from his files reveal his plans. One describes setting up a "touch keyboard in the Director's (Broger's) office. The digital system will provide . . . 20 remote lines and a 8 local sources to be selected by the Pentagon."

Reduced to simpler English, this means human reporters, who are sometimes able to tell the truth to the troops despite Broger, are being replaced by machines. And Broger will have his finger on the buttons.

Some of the equipment has already been quietly installed. "The computerized system is steadily being increased to off-line a greater portion of the broadcast day," one of Broger's memos states. "In about two weeks, we will try going with (some shows) with no back up from the news floor."

The memos detail the fare to be force-fed to servicemen: Pentagon officials on regulations, stories on Nixon prayer breakfasts and such conservative commentators as Paul Harvey. The fairness rule imposed on commercial broadcasters doesn't apply to Broger's empire.

But Broger isn't all-powerful. Some of his machines are already breaking down, and one memo complains about "all the difficulties we have encountered."

Footnote: The Pentagon insists that the machines are just to make it easier and cheaper to take programs from the commercial networks and put them on servicemen's broadcasts.

PRESIDENT'S HIPPIE NEPHEW: Special White House investigator Jack Caulfield has now confirmed our June 21, 1973, story about chasing down young Don Nixon, the President's nephew, in a California hippie community.

Behind locked doors in the Senate, Caulfield confided that Rose Mary Woods, the President's loyal secreatary, gave him the first clue as to where young Don was hiding out.

Caulfield proudly told the Senate Watergate Committee that he was quickly able to report back that Don "was located somewhere in the mountains of California and that he was residing with some friends . . .

"There did not appear to be any improprieties," Caulfield testified, "other than the fact that he was keeping company with some young gentlemen who also reside in the area."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: The Cost of Living Council, which did so little to keep costs down, is running true to form as it closes down. At a cost of almost $1 million to the taxpayers, it has shifted 150 of its employes, many of them political appointees, over to the Treasury Department's payroll. Most will be paid full salaries for make-work projects until they find new jobs . . . The next time Attorney General William Saxbe visits his $50,000 home in Costa Rica, he may want to use his famous persuasive talents to try to bring back one of his neighbors to the United States. The neighbor is Robert Vesco, the financial fugitive, who tried to pull strings in Washington through the Nixon family. For months, Vesco has ducked efforts to extradite him. He lives only a few miles from Saxbe's vacation home.

Milk Turning Sour

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MOSCOW — Permeating every aspect of the murky summit meeting just passed is deep Soviet uncertainty over the future of President Nixon, the central topic of conversation by everyone here — except Mr. Nixon and the Soviet leaders themselves.

The President's calculated and self-serving efforts to enshrine detente as a special Nixon creation — its future coexistent with his own — has both embarrassed and angered his Soviet hosts. A leading Western analyst called it "outrageous."

Indeed, the real reason for the extraordinary change in the official translation of Mr. Nixon's celebrated toast to Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev at the state dinner last week, which credited detente to his "close personal relationship" with Brezhnev, was that it appalled and offended Brezhnev himself. It appeared to elevate Brezhnev to heights unacceptable to the Communist party hierarchy.

Although Brezhnev is now at the peak of his personal prestige and power, the cult of the individual went out with Nikita Krushchev. Far more important, however, is the fact that detente became an object of highest Soviet policy not by any Brezhnev whim but by decree of the 24th Party Congress in April 1971.

The translation changed Mr. Nixon's phrase "close personal relationship" with Brezhnev to "relations between us." As one well-informed Soviet expert told us: "We have never based any foreign policy ever on the claim of a personal relationship and we do not intend to start now."

No word of this Soviet displeasure was allowed to sift through to Mr. Nixon. Indeed, every public pronouncement uttered by Soviet leaders here is carefully screened to avoid any semblance of veiled criticism of the President. That is a measure of the delicacy with which the Kremlin has approached its 1974 negotiating sessions with a president who is here today — but may be gone tomorrow.

Yet, beneath this placid surface, the party's ruling establishment is asking critical questions about Richard M. Nixon and the future of detente. For example, it is felt that since Mr. Nixon's 1972 pledge for vast U.S. trade credits to the Soviet Union, and his promise to extend tariff equality to Moscow, are still unfulfilled because of congressional resistance, he should have brought a congressional delegation with him to the summit. But in fact, the President was not about to share any summit glory with the Democratic Congress.

More important, it is now being widely but privately said that Mr. Nixon should have explained the pitfalls of congressional politics before he promised so much in the way of expanded trade two years ago. Although no word of Communist party disenchantment has seeped into the tightly controlled party press about the abysmal failure of the U.S. to deliver on those Nixon promises, there is profound regret within the top leadership. That regret could boomerang on Brezhnev if the trade stalemate continues much longer.

Moreover, a feeling of unease is beginning to permeate high party levels about the continuing instability of the American government, including published reports in the American press about dissension between Mr. Nixon and his Secretary of State. Kissinger is regarded here as critically important to the process of detente.

The attack on Kissinger by liberal Democrats and "other powerful elements" in Washington, in the words of one theoretician here, is beyond comprehension in this country of monolithic bureaucratic solidarity. Coupled with the President's failure to speak out for Kissinger, this both disturbs and distracts Soviet leaders.

None of this means that detente has been weakened as fundamental Soviet policy. To the contrary, the mere fact that the leadership here is treating this third summit with exquisite delicacy and making so obvious a public effort to ignore Mr. Nixon's vulnerability points the other way: Detente is still perceived as vital to Soviet interests stretching far beyond the end of Richard Nixon's presidency.

But the mood is uneasy, the atmosphere murky and the accomplishments meager. As one leading Americanologist told us: "The cream is off the top of the bottle and we are trying hard to keep the milk from going sour."

BERRY'S WORLD

"Hi, gang! How's the ol' hearsay and innuendo today?"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Trusting the Nose First

A dog is not dog's best friend. He seldom seeks his own. Given a choice, he prefers humans. In the wild state, he will gravitate to packs of dogs and forage for food in panting tension and fear. In a home, he stakes out the people and the premises, and guards them with his life.

He will attack an armed robber, but will hide under a bed when he hears thunder. His brain contains a highly accurate clock. He knows exactly when children are due home from school, or a man from work. He even knows when someone is oversleeping on a weekend.

A dog never feels that he is owned by a family. He adopts them; he frowns with worry when they leave the house; no one displays such unabashed surprise and love when they return safely.

He can be taught tricks — to sit up, to beg, to "speak" — but his inclination is to operate by instinct. Often, he will permit small children to yank his tail, stick their fingers in his eyes and ears, but he will growl or shy away if an adult does it.

Instinct makes him sleep with his chin on his front paws; it protects his throat from attack. When he begins to sleep on his side, it means that he has "adopted" the house and feels safe.

His mother weans him and his siblings when she feels the sharp milk teeth. After that, he must learn to lap milk from a dish or a pan. To do this, all food must be forced to fly upward, so he laps, curls his tongue and jerks his head, forcing food toward his throat.

From his first conscious moment, he spends his life trying to please. Corporal punishment will convert a good dog into a slinking hysteric. When, in puppyhood, he makes a mess, he should be carried to the site of the crime, forced to smell it, and given a light tap on the behind, accompanied by the word "bad."

The word, uttered softly, will have as much impact as shouted. If the family yells at him he will stop trying to decipher words, and pay attention only to tone. No matter how intelligent he is, he will never learn more than a handful of human words.

By repetition, he should be taught his name, and the words "good," "bad," and "no" and "okay." When he is confused, and does the right thing, he should be petted and hear the word "good" several times. If you want to give him a candy, or a cookie, hold it out and say "no" softly.

He will try to snatch it. Push his head away gently, and say "no" again. Do this until, as you hold the goodie toward him, he backs away in confusion. Then say "okay" and shove it between his teeth while stroking his head.

Repeat the lesson over and over again. In less than a day, you can drop a piece of candy on the floor and say "no." He will not touch it. His eyes will remain on you rather than the candy. When you murmur "okay," he will eat it with wagging tail.

Thus "good," "bad," "no" and "okay" become the key words of his life. If he is about to run into the street in traffic, merely say "no" and he will skid to a stop and look back at you.

He will take license in the house only if you permit it. If he jumps up on you or guests, it is because you thought it was cute and flattering when he was little. The same applies to dogs on furniture.

Deep inside, he has feelings of jealousy and revenge. These are instinctive. When a new baby arrives, he will be jealous or protective, depending upon how much attention you pay to him versus the infant. If he is left alone for long periods, he will tear a bedspread or a couch cushion when the house is empty.

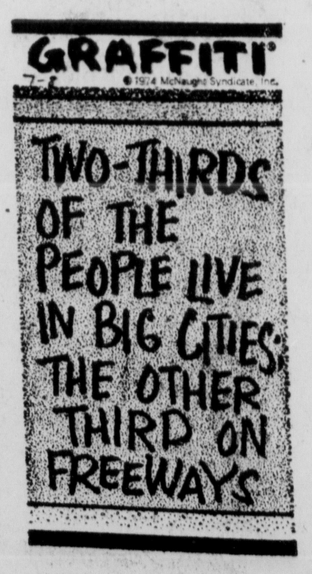

He has deep feelings of guilt and, when he does wrong, will often refuse to meet the family at the door when they return. He will hide and hang his head before anyone discovers the crime.

No matter how much love you give your dog, he is prepared to give more to you. If you lose your temper and beat him he will crawl toward you on his belly. If his chronic attitude is over-emotional and hysterical, it is because he draws his cues from the family.

He cannot tell you when he has a stomach pain, or when he is depressed. He knows that he must be ready to romp and be playful when his master feels in the mood.

Like people, he needs a good doctor. He should be taken to the same veterinarian for periodic examinations. Do not give a dog worm pills without the counsel of the doctor. Always remember, the dog has imperfect eyes and a perfect nose.

That is why, when he walks up to a mirror in your house and sees another dog, he will sniff once and walk away. In a contest between what he sees and what he smells, he will believe his nose every time.

A year today God called him home
Part of me went that day, too
There's an empty spot in my life now
That this world can never fill.
For I have lost my loving, understanding husband
Who was so much a part of me.
And now I am left alone with a heartache
That never seems to cease.
Rest in peace, my love.

Woodstock Man Is Charged

WOODSTOCK

A 34-year-old Woodstock man was charged with menacing Sunday after he allegedly threatened a constable with a jackknife when the constable attempted to arrest him for violation of a town ordinance which makes it illegal to go in public without a shirt.

Howard Herman was additionally charged with possession of a controlled substance in the seventh degree after a search at police headquarters revealed a quantity of a substance believed to be mescaline, police said.

Herman was reportedly disarmed without a struggle after he allegedly pulled the knife on Main Street next to police headquarters.

Constable Ludwig Baumgarten had told the man to put on a shirt, but he allegedly refused, police said.

Arraigned before Town Justice Rudolf, C. Baumgarten, Herman was confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail to await a reappearance in court July 12.

Regents Survey In Highland

HIGHLAND

The Highland Central School District Board of Education has directed that a survey be conducted of all students who were denied the opportunity to take June Regents examinations due to the cancellation.

In order to inform students of the options open to them and to determine the number of students who will want to take the exams in August, contact will be made through certified mail by William G. Miller Jr., high school principal.

Requests to participate in the August Regents must be returned to the high school principal on or before July 10.

It is not necessary that cancelled regents be made up in August. Only those students who feel they can score higher than their class average should consider taking the August exams, school officials advised.

Regents exams will be given Aug. 14 and 15.

New York Man Dies in Fall

MOOSE, Wyo. (AP) — The body of Brent W. Shako, 25, was recovered here Sunday after he plunged 2,000 feet during a mountain-climbing expedition at Grand Teton National Park.

Shako's companion, Robert Lipkin, 20, of Brooklyn, told authorities they reached the snow-covered summit Saturday afternoon and were starting their descent when the fall occurred.

Lipkon told authorities Shako was moving a large rock when it gave way and he fell to the base of the peak.

The body was spotted Sunday by rangers in a helicopter. The copter team retrieved the body and then rescued Lipkon and other rangers from the mountain side.

Shako resided at 425 Watervliet - Shaker Road, Latham, N. Y.

Youth Charged In Shooting

KINGSTON

Gerard Lukaszewski, 19, of 170 Clifton Avenue was charged with reskless endangerment and trespass late Saturday after he allegedly shot at a night watchman at the Jova Maunfacturing Company on North Street. Two alleged companions, Peter Tiano, 16, of 175 Old Flatbush Avenue, and Tina Clark, 17, of 16 John Street, were charged with trespass.

Lukaszewski allegedly shot at Gary Stafford, 31, of 180 Delaware Avenue, the night watchman, when he approached the trio. Stafford was uninjured, police said.

Murder-Suicide, 'Cut and Dried' Albany Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Francis Doyle, 33, apparently shot and killed his former girlfriend Sunday before turning his gun on himself, police reported.

Police said that Doyle was apparently upset over the recent breakup of his relationship with Nancy Ann Barrows, 23. Police said the two were killed in her Albany apartment by a .32 Winchester rifle.

Police said the apparent murder-suicide was a "cut and dried" case.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. Dead in Miami at Age 76

MIAMI (UPI) — Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., scion of railroad tycoons who became a $25 a week reporter and lost his spot in the Social Register, died Sunday. He was 76.

His career as a newspaper publisher, foreign correspondent, columnist and magazine writer spanned nearly five decades and he was the author of half a dozen books. His best known work was a biography of his mother, titled "Queen of the Golden Age."

Among his journalistic triumphs were 15 interviews with Joseph Stalin and 12 with Benito Mussolini, as well as interviews with such varied figures as Mahatma Gandhi and Al Capone. He covered the Reichstag fire in Berlin, which set the stage in 1934 for Adolf Hitler's seizure of absolute power in Germany.

He was born in 1898 the son of Cornelius Vanderbilt, great grandson of Commodore Vanderbilt, a ferry boat skipper who founded the New York Central Railroad. His mother was the former Grace Wilson, daughter of a cotton broker who became a Confederate general.

His family divided its time between its 70-room mansion on New York's Fifth Avenue, its ocean going steam yacht, and its villa at Newport, R.I.

However, at the age of 21, Vanderbilt became a reporter on the old New York Herald before its merger with the New York Tribune, and in 1925 he launched the Miami Daily Tab, an illustrated tabloid newspaper here which went under 18 months later.

He continued his globe-trotting journalistic career as a foreign correspondent, syndicated columnist, travel writer and finally a lecturer. He became a permanent Miami resident in 1969.

State Police 'Cool' Pair

SAUGERTIES

State Police arrested two Parlin, N. J. men early Sunday on charges of burglary after they allegedly entered the Eveready Beverage Distributor Company in Saugerties and made off with two cases of beer and a cooler.

Police said Nicholas O'Kelly, 20, and Allen Walker, 19, were arrested a short distance from where the theft occurred while operating a mobile home. The stolen items were recovered, troopers said.

The two men were confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail each following arraignment.

Meanwhile, Ulster County Sheriff's Deputies arrested two Kingston youths over the weekend on warrants charging them with second degree burglary.

Arrested were Edward F. Glynn, 18, of 11 East Chester Street, and Timothy Brodhead, 18, of 11 Abbey Street, according to deputies.

The pair allegedly stole household items in a July 3 burglary at the residence of Elizabeth Manuel of Sunset Gardens in the Town of Ulster, deputies said.

Town of Ulster Constables aided in the investigation.

Brodhead was released on $1,000 bail. Glynn was confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail. Trey are slated to reappear in court July 16.

Turnau Company Encores With 'La Boheme'

Woodstock, N.Y. . . . Fresh from a widely-acclaimed season-opening performance of "Die Fledermaus," the popular Turnau Opera Players will return to the Woodstock Playhouse on Tuesday and Wednesday, (July 9 and 10) and Thursday Friday, July 12 and 13, in "La Boheme," Puccini's melodic opera of love, drama, comedy and tragedy.

Set in the garrets and cafes of the Bohemian Paris of another era, this opera — which first was staged in 1896 — has been one of the most popular in any company's repertoire.

The English-language version presented by the Turnau company has been one of the best received of their performances as well.

In the forthcoming version, Sheryl King performs the key role of Mimi, the romantic-tragic figure who dominates the story line, and George Livings plays Rodolfo, the male lead. Forrest Lorey performs as Marcello and Gloria Johnson as Musetta. All are accomplished, experienced performers of first rank.

Harris Gordon, in his first season as owner of the Woodstock Playhouse, advises theater-lovers and opera buffs to order their tickets in advance.

"Our only disappointment in the season thus far," he said, is that the seating capacity of 600, which was more than ample previously, is insufficient for the discriminating audiences which now gravitate towards the Woodstock Playhouse. We will try to plan for longer runs and shall keep the community advised well in advance of performances so that tickets may be purchased by mail or reserved by telephone."

SHERYL KING

The lead soprano in the Puccini masterpiece, Sheryl King was born in Colorado and was graduated from Northwestern University with both Bachelor and Master degrees. She has appeared with the Robert Shaw Chorale, became a member of Studio 95 of the Goldovsky Opera Institute and studied with Cornelius Reid. She has appeared as leading soprano with the Goldovsky Opera Theatre, New York Sextet and in the 1969-70 season sang more than 70 performances of Die Fledermaus, Cosi Fan Tutte and La Traviata with the Turnau Opera Players national touring company.

Miss King is a recipient of a William Matheus Sullivan grant and was a semi-finalist in the Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions in 1971.

After a debut in 1972 in New York, Miss King triumphed with the Musica Sacra Series Carmina Burana and most recently sang the St. Matthew Passion with Musica Sacra.

Miss King will join the American Vocal Quintet after the summer season and will return also to Sarasota, Fla., for her fifth consecutive season as leading soprano with the Asolo Opera Company.

Marjorie D. Quilty Exchanges Vows

MRS. JOHN W. SUTTON JR.
(Marjorie D. Quilty)
(Reynolds Studio)

Miss Marjorie Dwyer Quilty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Quilty of 303 Hurley Avenue, Kingston, became the bride of John W. Sutton Jr., son of Mrs. Dolores Carlson of 14 Elizabeth Street, Kingston, on Saturday, June 22 in St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Msgr. James V. Keating officiated at the double ring ceremony and was assisted by the Rev. Alfred R. Pizzuto. The couple received the Papal Blessing. Traditional wedding selections were provided by James Sweeney.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original design imported silk-faced organza gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice; sheer, high yoked neckline and long, fitted sleeves. Heirloom Belgian lace in a rose pointe pattern and hand clipped motifs of floral sculptured lace accented the gown. Matching motifs edged the hem which swept back to form a cathedral length built-in train. A triple tiered silk illusion chapel length veil was shirred to a camelot headpiece. Mrs. Sutton carried a bouquet of butterfly orchids, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Joan Quilty, 303, Hurley Avenue, served as maid of honor for her sister. Attendants were Miss Mary Ellen Quilty, Miss Kathleen Quilty, both sisters of the bride; Mrs. Bruce (Carole) Eymann; and Mrs. Philip (Sharon) Kelly, all of Kingston.

The attendants were gowned alike in modified backless halter ensembles. White silk organza provided the backgrounds for the pale orchid floral print gowns. The ensembles were completed with wrap-around shawls.

The honor carried a white basket of lavendar and white pompons, lavendar and yellow daisies, lavendar and white statice, blue delphinium and baby's breath. The other attendants carried white baskets of similar flowers.

The uncle of the bridegroom, John Curci of Poughkeepsie, was best man. Ushers were William Schwerdtfeger, Kingston; William Heib Jr., Lindenhurst; Dwayne Curci, Poughkeepsie, both cousins of the bridegroom; and Dennis Quilty, brother of the bride, Boston, Mass.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is a graduate of Academy of St. Ursula, Elizabeth Seton College and State University of New York at Cobleskill. She owns and operates the Barnyard Nursery School of Kingston. Mrs. Sutton is a member of the Junior League of Kingston.

Her husband, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed by Bankers Trust Co., Kingston, and Kingston Window Cleaning Service. He served eight years in the U.S. Air Force with tours of duty in Thailand, Vietnam and Germany. Mr. Sutton attended Ulster County Community College.

The couple will reside in Kingston when they return from a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, Va.

'Kiss Me Kate' Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets for Ulster County Community College's major production of "Kiss Me, Kate" are on sale at the college and at stores in Kingston and Woodstock.

The show, featuring a company of nearly 90, opens July 26 for an eight-night run in the college's new air-conditioned theatre.

Telephone reservations may be made through the college starting today and each weekday thereafter from noon until 5 p.m.

Reservations made by telephone, director John Lawson said, must be picked up at the box office at least a half hour before performances.

Tickets will go on sale through members of the production on July 10. They also may be obtained at Abrams Music in Kingston and Woodstock Meats in Woodstock beginning the same date.

Lawson urged those interested in attending to reserve or purchase tickets early. Last summer's production of "Oklahoma!" sold out on three of the performance nights, and others ran to capacity.

All seats for the show are reserved. Opening night audience members are also being invited to a reception at the Holiday Inn in Kingston. The show will be performed also on July 27, 28, 30, 31 and Aug. 1, 2, 3. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. and tickets for all performances are $3.

Sisterhood Luncheon on Tuesday

Sisterhood of Congregation Agudas Achim will have its annual luncheon and card party on Tuesday, July 9 at noon in the social hall of the synagogue.

Guests are requested to have their own cards and Mah Jongg sets. There will be awards and a mini-bazaar, cake sale and gift booth will be highlights of the day.

Mrs. Irving Rudolph, committee chairman, is being assisted with arrangements by Mmes. Richard Basch, Morris Berman, Jack Blinder, Jack Epstein, Nathan Katatsky, Robert Selinger, Jack Shienvold and Benjamin Suskind.

Any members of the committee may be contacted about luncheon reservations.

General Federation of Clubs—War on Rape

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The General Federation of Women's Clubs has declared its own war, the war on rape.

"This should be a no hush-hush thing," said Mrs. Carroll [illegible], the new president of the 11-million member international federation that calls itself the world's largest organization of women.

"Statistics show rape cases on the increase, no matter what the size of the community," said Mrs. Miller, who now calls Charleston, W.Va., and Missoula, Mont., home.

Officially the program, begun as Mrs. Miller took office for two years, is called "Woman Against Rape (WAR)"

"We need citizen action groups throughout the country to stop the rising incidence," she said. "We are going to train groups of women in every community through our state federation, our district and local clubs, who will attend court when rape cases are heard to give moral support to victims.

"Everyone who reads newspapers knows that rape victims often are ruthlessly grilled in courts and ironically their reputations are frequently impugned so that many victims no longer will report the crime and make their private humiliation a public affair.

"We want to change the laws. Today, while the victim's sexual history becomes an open book in the courtroom, the defendant's criminal record is not admissable in rape cases. And, as there rarely are witnesses, the case pits the word of the victim against that of the defendant."

Mrs. Miller cited the work done by club members in Indianapolis. They go to court "by the hundreds" to support women.

"As far as I can determine, Indiana is the only state where no convicted rapist can be given a suspended sentence," she continued. "We want to see this legislation enacted across the country."

Accordingly, the federation will propose that its 15,000 clubs in the United States adopt a resolution proposing that it be mandatory for a convicted rapist to serve time.

The federation also has programs to fight alcoholism and drug abuse; to promote highway safety and make seat belts mandatory, and to improve decaying downtown areas.

Other major activities include work with the New York Stock Exchange to teach women the rudiments of finance, especially in the area of wills and estate settlements; in conservation, a "Brighten the Night" program for better street lighting as a crime deterrent; a "Justice for Juveniles" program; support of the Equal Rights Amendment and promotion of the bicentennial.

NEW PRESIDENT Mrs. Carroll E. (Mary Katherine) Miller, General Federation of Women's Clubs, is leading the organization in a war on rape. Officially the program is called "Women Against Rape" (WAR). "We need citizen action groups throughout the country to stop rising incidence," Mrs Miller suggests. "We want to change the laws too." (UPI photo)

Garden Club Completes Projects

HARD AT WORK restoring the beauty of a triangle on Route 28 in Boiceville are (l-r) Mrs. LeeRoy Croswell, chairman of the Civic Beautification Committee for the Tongore Garden Club; Marcel Maier, town of Olive superintendent of highways; Mrs. E. Lee Denman, co-chairman of the club's committee; and Mrs. Morris Kwit, president, Tongore Garden Club. In addition to restoring the Boiceville site, members of the club have completed a similar project on Route 28-A in West Shokan. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

The Tongore Garden Club of the Town of Olive has been busy these days turning liabilities into assets. They have taken a triangle on Route 28 in Boiceville and transformed it into an area of beauty.

The site is a familiar one to motorists and particulary to fishermen who often park there and enjoy picnics. But the area contained a memorial in need of a face-lifting and two of the three evergreen trees were dead.

In cooperation with the Town Superintendent of Highways, Marcel Maier, Mrs. LeeRoy Croswell, chairman of the Civic Beautification Committee for the Tongore Garden Club, undertook the task of restoring beauty to that particular area.

Mrs. Croswell and her committee worked with the state superintendent of highways and City of New York officials in getting dead trees removed, planting 16 Junipers between new white posts, ridding the area of weeds and replacing them with wood chips.

The memorial which "honors those men and women of the Armed Services who served in the wars of this Nation," was repainted and surrounded with red, white and blue Petunias.

A similar restoration project was completed at the West Shokan triangle on Route 28-A which leads to the Olive Town Hall. It has taken more than two years to complete preliminary arrangements regarding the West Shokan site since permission for certain aspects of the projects had to be obtained from the Adirondack Park area Mrs. Croswell told The Freeman, however all details have been completed, several old hot water tanks were even cut in half, painted and turned into flower boxes.

Maintenance of the two areas will be a combined effort. The highway department will be responsible for annual weeding of heavy rooted vegetation while the Beautification Committee of the Tongore Garden Club will plant and care for the shrubs and flowers. (D. Narel)

Look Here! Mrs. Homemaker

It's getting to be that time of the year when punch recipes are passed around. One important thing about serving punch is to have it cold and keep it cold. Chill all the ingredients throughly before mixing them and use plenty of ice. However, if it's a warm day, the melting ice can dilute the flavor of the punch. To get around this, you can freeze some of the punch first and use this in place of ice.

Pour the punch into ice cube trays and, at party time, release them just as you would plain water cubes. Or, you can pour the punch into an 8-inch cake pan or a 6-cup ring mold. These will take 6 to 8 hours to freeze, so it's wise to do this step a day in advance.

Unmolding is easy. Just lower the mold in warm water for a minute of two and unmold onto a cookie sheet, exactly as you would a gelatin mold. Then slide it gently into the punch bowl. The following recipes using canned fruit punch saves time in blending.

ROYAL CHERRY FLOAT

Two can (46 ounces each) cherry flavor fruit punch
Two cups chilled cranberry juice cocktail
Two bottles (12 ounces each) club soda

The night before the party, open one can of fruit punch and pour 4 cups into an 8-inch round cake pan. Put in freezer. Chill the remainder.

At party time, mix remaining ingredients and add the frozen punch ice round.

Arrange orange slices on top of the punch round for colorful garnish. Makes 26 4-ounce servings.

Sherbet adds a nice note to a punch. Some like to spoon the sherbet into punch cups and pour the punch over each serving. Others like to add the whole container to the punch.

Food Tips

Butter labeled "sweet cream" is usually lightly salted; butter labeled "sweet" has no salt added.

When yogurt is used in a sauce, the heating time should be short and the temperature low; if these precautions aren't taken the yogurt may separate.

Is It Charity . . . Or Is It Sin?

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Le Roy and I have been married for 38 years, and during that time I have had proof that he cheated on me with 33 different girls. I suspected 14 others, but never had proof. I thought maybe time would slow him down, but it hasn't.

Last Sunday, LeRoy spent the whole day in his pickup truck hauling this girl's stuff from her apartment to a trailer court. He didn't make it home until midnight.

Abby, I'm a good Christian woman who loves the Lord. I told Le Roy I thought it was a sin for him to work on Sunday, but he said it wasn't work, it was an act of charity to lend a helping hand to a person in need.

This girl is not in need of anything but prayers, and I've been praying for her. I have also been praying for Le Roy.

Please ask your readers to pray for these two sinners, and tell me if you think Le Roy worked last Sunday, or was it charity?

A CHRISTIAN

DEAR CHRISTIAN: Let's say it was charity on his part, and work on hers.

DEAR ABBY: A girl friend of ours (I'll call her Molly) is scheduled to get married in two weeks. She met the guy three months ago and has seen him only twice since. (He's in the service.) Molly is a bit of a screwball. She's 23 and he's 24. Nobody we know has ever met him. Molly is planning everything herself. Two other girls and I want to give her a shower, but I honestly don't think there is going to be a wedding. (Neither does anybody else.) Molly is a swell kid with a heart of gold, but she's done a lot of really nutty things, and we don't want to go to the expense and work of making a shower for her if the wedding never takes place.

She's not pregnant. We'd just make it a general shower. Please advise me so I can show it to the other two girls who are as puzzled about this as I am.

MOLLY'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Since there seems to be a question as to whether there will be a wedding, skip the shower. If Molly gets married, give her a gift and your best wishes at the wedding—and shower her later.

DEAR READERS: If you like contemporary poetry, get "America," a powerful and beautifully written and illustrated little volume by Jim Kavanaugh, in which he captures the idealism of the 40's, the pride of the 50's, and the disillusionment of the present. ("I love you, America, but not like I use to.")

I've given ten copies as high school and college graduation gifts and was thanked in superlatives by each recipient. It's only $3.95. If your bookstore doesn't have it, write to Karo Communications, 9010 Reseda Blvd., Northridge, Calif. 91324.

Mystic Court Honors State Officers

ACCORDED HONORS at a reception given by Mystic Court 62, Order of the Amaranth were, standing (l-r) Elsie Kent, grand marshall; Beverly Reese, Grand Truth; Helena Schoepf, Grand Representative to Indiana; and, seated, Gordon Kent, Grand Royal Patron. All hold offices on the state level in the organization. The reception was given at the Governor Clinton Hotel and more than 200 members and friends attended. (Freeman proto by Carey)

More than 200 members and friends of Mystic Court No. 62, Order of the Amaranth, gathered recently at the Governor Clinton Hotel to honor four of its members elected and appointed to State Office. Those honored were: Gordon Kent, Grand Royal Patron, Order of Amaranth, State of N.Y., Elsie Kent, Grand Marshal, Beverly Reese, Grand Truth and Helen Schoepf, Grand Representative to Indiana.

Many Supreme Officers attended from New York and New Jersey as well as many past grand royal matrons and patrons from both states. Also in attendance were 54 grand officers from New York State including: Helen Rock, Grand Royal Matron of New York from L.I.; George Alderice, Grand Associate Patron from Elmira; Betty Place Grand Associate Conductress from Buffalo and Mildred Blacker, Grand Secretary from Long Island.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Paul Weigand, P.G.R.P. from Buffalo. A welcome was given to visiting courts by Lillian Joseph, Roayal Matron of Mystic Court. Mrs. Elmore Nathan, contralto soloist of Kingston, sang several selections from the "Sound of Music." She was accompanied by Mrs. Earl Rylance, also of Kingston. Presentations were made to the honored guests by Mrs. Linda Wolven, Mrs. Phyllis Kastner, Miss Janice Baker and Mrs. Nellie Reese. The local committee in charge of this event included: Vivian Nixdorf, Mina Cole, Lillian Joseph and Margaret Ferraro. An "after glo" party for more than 100 was held at the home of Beverly Reese.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kent reside in Ellenville, N.Y. Mr. Kent is chairman of the Ellenville Housing Authority and member of Kingston Lodge No. 10 F.&A.M., Wawarsing Chapter No. 240 RAM, Rondout Commandry 52KT Cyprus Temple, Albany, Ancient City Council 21R&SM, Ulster Shrine Club and Mystic Court 62, Order of the Amaranth. Helpful Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I've found the best way to keep bread fresh is to save all plastic bags from bread. When I get a new loaf of bread, I put at least two more plastic bags over the original wrapper.

Sometimes the original bag is torn or has a small hole. These extra bags keep bread fresh much longer.

Dear Heloise:

Summer is here and, oh, how we fatties dread the heat!

We're all trying to diet, but summer is our downfall when we yearn for that cool sherbert or ice cream.

I've discovered that if I take small containers of yogurt and put them in the freezer, I have all the benefits of my diet allowance plus a summer treat.

You can even pour a diet drink over a large spoonful of frozen yogurt for a "float" and luxuriate in its wickedly good taste.

Dear Heloise:

We have a 15-month-old baby who is eating less and less of baby foods. At dinner time her bowl just didn't do the trick and she isn't old enough yet for a plate. So to substitute until we could buy a baby plate, I used a six-cup muffin tin.

This worked out just great putting a different food in each cup. Our baby was pleased too!

Dear Heloise:

You know how you often may write a small check and send it away to buy something through the mail? Then weeks pass and no goods delivered!

True, you will have the canceled check to show to where you sent it, but to what address? The simplest method is to write the name, address and a word or two to help you remember what you sent for, on the back of the check stub.

No problem for you to check up on it if you don't receive the merchandise within a reasonable time.

Dear Heloise:

For wash-and-wear slacks and work pants that have cuffs, sew medium snaps on where the cuffs are tacked. This way you can unsnap them easily for washing and the dirt and sawdust (my husband is a carpenter) washes out fine.

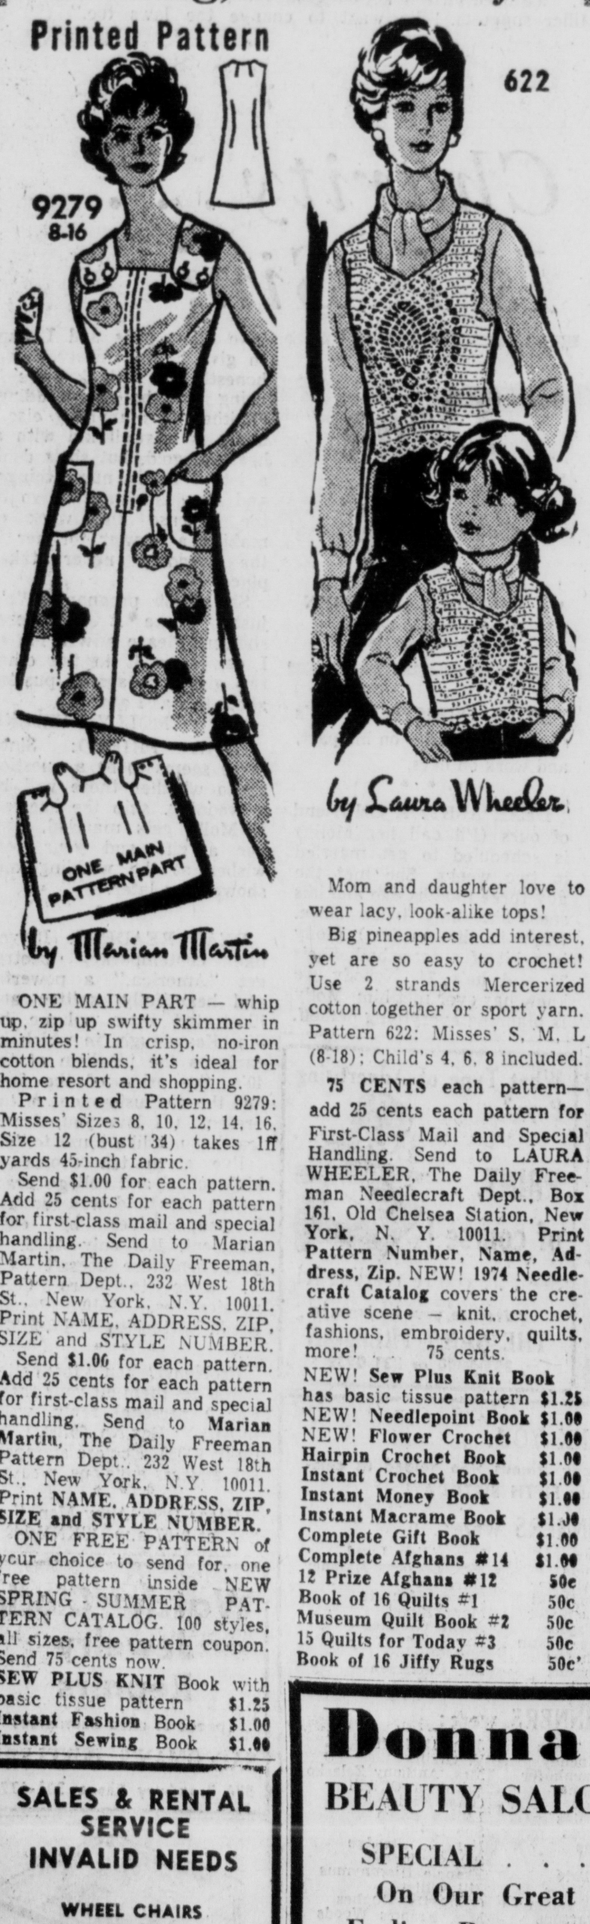

When pants are dry, snap back in place!

Post: Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Although I have printed a number of responses to Mr. Barnett's original letter, I am including excerpts from just one more because it is so excellent — perhaps the most reasoning and reasonable reply I have received from a self-declared feminist.

Dear Mrs. Post: In your recent column, a Mr. Barnett asks why women no longer want the respect of men. He spoke of the hostility of certain women toward him when he simply attempted to be courteous.

Many men are quite happy to give token consideration to any woman who does not appear to be economically or politically threatening. I'm afraid that chivalry is, at times, conditional. Unfortunately, some men use two sets of manners.

It is easy to open a door for a woman. But it requires much more of a man to open doors for qualified women to equal opportunity in the professions, in trade unions, in business, etc. Mr. B. says that it is "right to give up a seat on the bus." Let's hope that he's a man who will not mind seeing more women on the seat of the stock exchange.

Mr. B. wonders if some women dislike being women and wish to be men. Whenever a woman rejects some attitude or assigned role of society, it is assumed that she wishes to be a man. I suspect that this charge is often used by men to chastise assertive women and to keep more timid women "in their place."

Being "pro-woman" does not mean "anti-man." Women need and have always had confident men to help them in their fight for equality. If Mr. B. wants to be considerate of women he can do his part by supporting legislation to help eliminate the great multitude of unfair practices in all areas to our lives.

Women, on the other hand, should not waste their anger on well-meaning men. They should fight against the institutions that are responsible for these injustices.

I'm a feminist, Mrs. Post, and like most women, I am no where near liberation yet. We need all the men we can get to like us. Please tell Mr. Barnett that we need him and all other sincere men to help us attain our goals. And to keep on being considerate.

Mrs. B. H.

West Germany on Top of Soccer World

HAPPY ENDING — The long, hard road to success comes to a happy end for West Germany's team captain Franb Beckenbauer who triumphantly holds up the World Cup trophy after his team had beaten Holland in Munich Sunday. West German President Walter Scheel made the presentation. (UPI)

WINNING GOAL — The ball is firmly in the back of the net, put there by West Germany's center-forward Gerd Muller (13), to give the host nation a 2-1 victory over Holland in Sunday's World Cup final in Munich. On the right of this low-level shot with hands in the air is Germany's Uli Hoeness. (UPI)

★ ★ ★ ★ Wins Cup Finals, 2-1

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — It took Helmut Schoen three tries, but he has finally arrived at the top of the international soccer world.

The German coach, with a cap on his head and a smile on his face, gave the thumbs up sign and at the final gun, the West German players hugged the ground after beating The Netherlands 2-1 to gain their country's first World Cup championship in 20 years.

Schoen, who led his team to the runnerup spot in England in 1966 and third place in Mexico in 1970, said his team's underdog rating proved beneficial.

He said the Dutch "regarded themselves as favorites even before the final was played. I've always said that a soccer game lasts 90 minutes and that even the strongest team of the preliminary rounds will have to prove they are the best during those full 90 minutes."

What Schoen labelled "fighting spirit and the will to win" overcame what had been called the soccer wave of the future as played by The Netherlands.

That wave looked overpowering in the first minute when the crowd of 80,000 saw Johnny Neeskens send his Dutch team into the lead on a penalty kick.

Then, 24 minutes later, Paul Breitner tied the score, also on a free kick.

The West Germans went ahead 2-1 in the 43rd minute when Gerd Mueller took a pass from Rainer Bonhof and slammed the ball home on a right-footed kick from 10 yards out.

"During half an hour in the first half, the Germans profitted from a weak phase in the Dutch play, and at halftime felt 2-1 was a just result," said Schoen.

Goalie Sepp Maier and Berti Vogts, who shadowed the Dutch superstar Johnan Cruyff, were tested time and again by the Dutch in the second half.

Cruyff, frustrated in his own attempts to score, twice set up Johnnie Rep in the closing minutes. Both times Rep's shot flashed wide of the post.

After the game, the German coach had some harsh words about Cruyff's play but later softened them. "Of course, Cruyff is one of the best I've ever seen, although I must say he had a difficult time today."

Maier made two big saves. The first came with about 20 minutes remaining when the German goalie blocked a Neeskens shot and a minute later he pulled down a fierce 25-yard drive by Theo de Jong.

"In the second half, the Dutch did everything to correct the score," said Michaels. "In fact, I feel that the Dutch were much too dominant in the second half to be the losing side in this game."

Despite his victry, Schoen called the final game disappointing and blamed the play on the stress of the tournament. Each team had played six games which drained much of their stamina.

"That is why I am very skeptical about the plans to have 20 or more teams participate in the next World Cup tournament," Schoen said.

"We must realize that so many games in such a short time might demand too much physically even from professional soccer players."

For the next World Cup in Argentina in 1978, the Dutch will have difficulty getting their highly rated team back together again.

Two of the team are already in their 30s and five more will be well past that age by 1978.

Moreover, Hollands' stars are emigrating one by one in imitation of Cruyff who plays for Barcelonia where he is reputed to have an income of $2,000 a day. Neeskens and Wim Suurbier are reported ready to leave for Spain.

Sunday's game was played amid severe security measures—the Olympic Stadium was alive with 3,000 security police—and among the famous personages watching the final were U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissenger, President Walter Scheel and Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany, Prince Bernhardt of The Netherlands and Prince Rainer and Princess Grace of Monaco.

Poland took third place in the tournament with a 1-0 victory Saturday over Brazil, the defending champion.

★ ★ ★ ★ The Dutchmen Didn't Fly

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Gerd Mueller, kneeling on the field, head thrown back in a gesture of joy, arms raised in relief and jubilation, told it all as the final whistle sounded. West Germany had won the World Soccer Cup.

Mueller — "Der Bomber" — probably had more reason than most to be happy about the result. It was he who scored the winning goal —for the 21st time in his international career — giving the home side a 2-1 victory over Holland.

The flying Dutchmen, before a capacity 75,000 crowd in the Olympic Stadium, came down to earth with a bump Sunday.

West German manager Helmut Schoen said Holland was too confident.

Johan Cruyff, the Dutch captain, had another explanation: "We played like schoolchildren" for much of the time.

It was a bizarre match — more guarded than any sporting event has ever been; watched by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger; exploding with a penalty before a West German had touched the ball; equalized with another penalty, and all over —in goals at least —by half-time.

For the winning Germans, there was a fortune in advertising contracts for each player. For the Dutch, the chance to fight again — though experts doubted another such team could be assembled.

Probably, however, it is Holland, rather than West Germany, which will be remembered as the team of 1974.

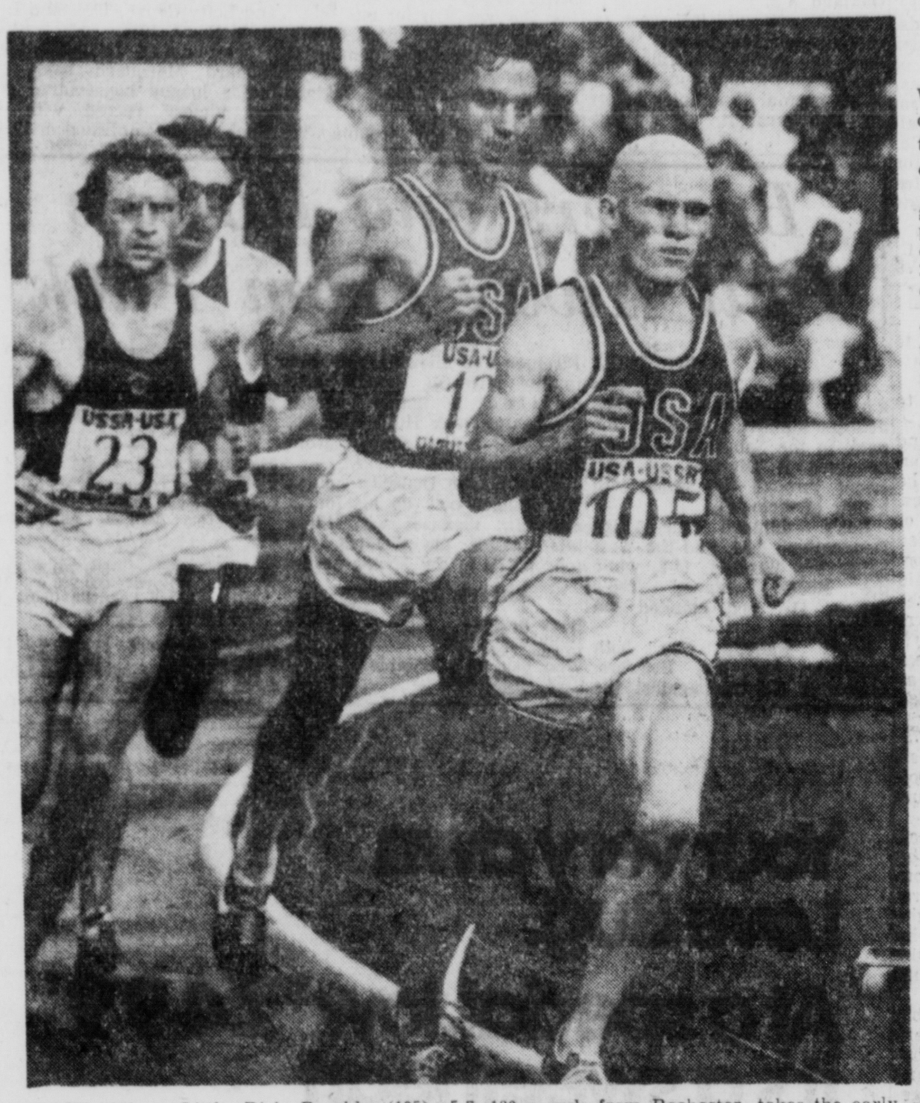

It was a team that arrived unheralded and low in the betting odds. It set the tournament aflame with its first match — a flowing 2-0 victory over Uruguay, then proved this was no fluke with scintillating football against Sweden and Bulgaria, as West Germany labored against Australia and lost to East Germany.

Holland, guided by the master Cruyff, improved as the contest went on, smashing Argentina, 4-0, and East Germany, 2-0, before knocking out the champion, Brazil, in a savage encounter, by the same margin.

West Germany, however, got better game by game and at Munich, where it counted, was the better team.

Together the two sides vindicated the new European concept of "total football" — all 11 players involved as often as possible.

Wohlhuter Gave U.S. Insurance

FAST 5000 — Little Dick Buerkle (105), 5-7, 130 pounds from Rochester, takes the early lead and retains it Sunday in Durham, N. Co., to turn in one of the fastest 5000 meters ever by an American with a meet record 13:26.1 in the USA-USSR International Track Meet. (UPI)

By BOB CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Rick Wohlhuter, a 25-year-old Chicago insurance adjuster, is off to Europe today in search of competition at 800 meters.

Wohlhuter, a Notre Dame graduate, may find someone to push him on the European circuit as he takes advantage of a 30-day leave from his employers.

But he's not likely to find a track that he'll like as much as the red, artificial surface at Duke University's Wallace Wade Stadium.

Both times he's run there, the performances have been outstanding. Last year, he anchored the Chicago Track Club to a world record in the two mile relay.

Saturday, in the U.S.-U.S.S.R. dual track meet, he turned in one of the fastest 800 meters ever run, a 1:44.0 achieved without serious competition. Wohlhuter was 40 yards in front of James Robinson at the tape.

The 800 sweep helped enable the U.S. men to record a 117-102 victory over the Soviets. The Soviet women, with a 90-67 win gave their team the combined victory at 192-184.

The combined score might have been different had it not been for one of the political squabbles that continually plague American track efforts.

Several Americans representing the Pacific Coast Club decided not to compete, electing instead to run on the European summer circuit. The AAU wanted national team members to remain in the United States until after the Russian meet. The PCC athletes said they should have been allowed to go to Europe on their own and return briefly for the meet in Durham.

That was of no concern to Wohlhuter. "It's an individual decision on their part," he said of the missing athletes. "I enjoy runnning for the national team. It's something to tell your grandchildren about—beating the Russians.'

Wohlhuter's stride flows so smoothly that he makes running 1:44.0 seem easy. But, he said, "I was working out there. I heard the crowd, and I knew I must be doing well."

Sports

Setting the pace by himself from the beginning, Wohlhuter went past the first quarter in 52.9, "a little too slow for a record." The cheers of the 38,500 fans in attendance spurred him around the second circuit in 51.1.

The world record for 800 meters is 1:43.7, owned by Italian Marcello Fiasconaro. "Id' like to have it, and I'm capable of breaking it," Wohlhuter said.

Wohlhuter had looked forward to running against Soviet Evgeniy Arzhanov, the 1972 Olympic silver medalist. He dealt Wohlhuter his last defeat in the U.S.-U.S.S.R. meet at Minsk last year.

But Arzhanov scratched from the meet with a foot injury.

Wohlhuter expects to see both Arzhanov and Fiasconaro in Europe. "With competition, I think I can go maybe one and half seconds faster than today."

Sir Dilrae Still Alive

By The Associated Press

Sir Dilrae may have been the 1973 harness horse of the year, but he proved this weekend that he's not resting on his laurels.

The Los Angeles horse, driven by Jim Dennis, highlighted New York State's weekend harness action by winning the $52,500 U.S. Pacing Championship at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

Steady Airliner, a 40-1 shot, came in second with Armbro Nesbit finishing third in the race that attracted 10 of the best pacers in the country.

Sir Dalrae's 1:59 mile paid $17.80. The race was the first leg of the $160,000 U.S. Pacing Championship series which Sir Dalrae is the defending champion.

In other harness races around the state:

—Stanley Dancer drove Smog to a $2.60, 2.20 1-5 mile in the $15,000 W.N. Reynolds Memorial Stake pace at Buffalo Raceway Sunday. Lyron Hanover was second with Buckram third.

—In Saturday racing at Buffalo, Dave Vence drove Sweetshooter past Sunny Flower and High Acres in the featured trot. The 2:07 4-5 mile was worth $10.40.

—John Patterson Jr. drove Brockworth King to a $6 win 2:06 2-5 victory in Monticello's $3,200 Saturday pacing feature. Mr. Ro Ro A was second with Cape Pine O'Malley third.

First Tour Victory For Sue Robinson

GRAND ISLAND, N.Y. (UPI) — When 25-year-old Sue Roberts heads home to Columbus, Ohio for the $40,000 Columbus Pabst Classic on the LPGA tour this week, she'll have something she's never had before — a win on the pro tour.

The petite blond used confidence and skill Sunday to break a three-way tie for the lead and capture the $5,000 first prize in the Niagara Frontier Classic. She was showered with beer by fellow pros as she came off the final hole.

"I was so nervous coming into the 18th," said the five-year pro, "but Murle (Breer) and Pam (Barnett) slowed me down."

Relieved and happy after carding a three-under par 70 for a 54-hole six-under-par 213 total, Miss Robert explained her strategy.

"Everything went right for me," she said. "I played each hole as it came and it seemed to work. Someone's on my side."

Miss Roberts, who has earned $14,400.65 so far this year, had never finished better than fifth.

She got an added push on the 18th when Mrs. Breer, who had been tied with Miss Roberts and Jo Ann Carner for the lead, told her "I'm really proud of you. I knew you were going to win."

An amateur who started playing golf when she was 11, the former telephone operator said tricky pin placement throughout the tournament demanded a thinking game. She had three birdies and parred the rest of the holes for her strong finish in the final round.

"It's hard out there," she said. "There are so many other good players and a bad hole can kill you."

For Mrs. Carner, a bad second hole dampened her chances and left her in second place for the third time in her last eight tournaments. She has also won three of those eight.

The 35-year-old blond suffered through eight strokes on the par-four, 361-yard second hole after she yanked out of bounds and had to take a penalty stroke and tee off again. She shot a two-under-par 71 to finish at 215, while Mrs. Breer finished third with 217.

"I fought my heart out," said Mrs. Carner, "because I heard Sue Roberts was four under. It's probably better for me that she was six-under."

Mrs. Carner, who is the second leading money winner on the tour, picked up $3,750 and boosted her winnings to $57,206. But for Mrs. Carner, who jokingly calls herself "a perennial bridesmaid," second is not good enough.

"I don't like being second," said the four-year pro from Lake Worth, Fla. "every time I try to play safe I gas it. I just never get a good shot."

Behind Mrs. Breer, 35, of St. Petersburg, Fla., was three-time USGA Women's Open winner Susie Berning, 32, of Lake Tahoe, Nev., at 219, six strokes off the pace.

Janet Blalock, 28, of Highland Beach, Fla., tied for fifth at 220 with leading money winner Jo Ann Prentice, 41, of Miami, Fla.

Jimmy, Chris Have Plans

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Wimbledon tennis men's singles champion Jimmy Connors followed girlfriend Chris Evert, the women's singles champion, home to the United States today —leaving with a promise they'll return in 1975 to try to become the first married couple to win the titles.

Miss Evert, 19, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., returned Sunday with the Wimbledon women's laurels and $16,800 prize money for swamping Olga Morozova, the first Russian woman to reach the finals, 6-0, 6-4.

Connors, 21, gained the men's title and $24,000 by beating Australian Ken Rosewall, 39, in the finals Saturday, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4 —making him the youngest Wimbledon champ since 1956.

Resting Sunday after the traditional Wimbledon ball where they danced the first dance to "The Girl That I Marry," Connors said they would announce later the exact date of their planned November marriage.

Reflecting on his overpowering win over Rosewall, who played Wimbledon when Connors was still a toddler, the young champ said he had dreamed of winning "the greatest championship in the world" since he was six.

For Eaglin — A Fateful Decision

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

"Look, I don't even want a rookie to get a head start on me," said Larry Eaglin, first member of the National Football League Players Association to cross his union's picket line.

Eaglin, a second-year cornerback, defied the NFLPA and joined some 100 rookies and free agents in the Houston Oilers' first workout on Sunday. "It was one of the hardest decisions I've ever had to make," he said.

"I love football," added Eaglin, who wasn't scheduled to report until July 13 with other veterans of the team that has had the NFL's worst record the past two seasons. "It's my profession and I feel I've got an obligation to myself and my family first. People ask who will a strike hurt first, the owners or the players association. I don't think the owners will suffer because many of them are millionaires—and really, I don't think it will hurt the players association, either."

The strike of NFL veterans went into its second week today with picket lines up at four training camp sites and the chief negotiator for the 26 club owners saying he is ready to sit down at the bargaining table again with the players association.

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, the owners' bargaining unit, said no sessions are currently scheduled, but a call from federal mediators "could come at any time."

Although several veterans—among them center Jim Langer, tight end Jim Mandich and linebacker Bob Matheson of the world champion Miami Dolphins and linebacker Mike Curtis of the Baltimore Colts—have said they will report to training camp, the 6-foot-3 Eaglin became the first experienced player to actually cross the picket line in this strike.

In New York, Thompson told The Associated Press a statement Sunday from Bill Curry, president of the NFLPA, that the union would negotiate the so-called "freedom issues" is a "good sign."

Curry, at the Oiler camp in Huntsville, Tex., insisted, however, that his statement contained nothing new.

Curry, claimed the owners wouldn't discuss the freedom issues but Thompson said, "We're willing to talk changes."

The NFLPA went on strike last Monday with the battle cry "No Freedom, No Football." The union has 63 demands, among them the freedom issues which call for elimination of the reserve and option clauses, waiver system and the so-called Rozelle rule, which allows Commissioner Pete Rozelle to order compensation for a club when one of its athletes plays out his option and signs with another team.

Matheson became the third Dolphin veteran to announce he would defy the NFLPA pickets, saying on Sunday, "I just don't agree with the issues."

He said he didn't "want to sound pro management or anything else, its' just the way I feel and I'm the guy who has to make the decision."

There was another weekend defector from the NFLPA, but it wasn't clear whether he would cross the picket lines. Veteran tackle Ralph Neely of the Dallas Cowboys disclosed he had resigned from the union.

"It's a personal thing," said the 30-year-old veteran, who recently signed a long-term contract.

The NFLPA got some unexpected assistance Sunday as picketing spread to the divided Dolphin training camp.

A score of players and a 75-year-old retired union man were among pickets at the Dolphins' camp at Miami's suburban Biscayne College.

"I'm an old-time union man and have been one since the days when it wasn't fashionable," said Dave Lipner, a retired electrician who joined the Miami picket line, flanked by running back Ed Podolak of the Kansas City Chiefs and Miami linebacker Doug Swift.

"Hell, we struck for big things in my day but here we're talking about slavery, human bondage and inhumane conditions," said the septuagenarian.

Picketing started Wednesday at the San Diego Chargers' camp. The Houston Oilers and Dallas camps were added Saturday. Next in line are the New York Jets, Green Bay Packers and Philadelphia Eagles, who open their training sites Tuesday.

At Evanston, Ill., the College All-Stars began assembling for their July 26 game with the Dolphins. All-Star Coach John McKay of Southern California said he would start practice today and all sessions would be closed.

McKay met with NFLPA representatives and said he told them "we had to have our practices. If the strike is settled one week before the game, the Dolphins know each other and could get ready in seven days. We couldn't because we don't know one another."

There was no picketing at Evanston Sunday. But Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings said:

"We're here to inform the All-Stars. We want to let them know what's going on. They're in the dark.

"They have as much to gain (from the strike) if not more than anybody else. They'll be the stars of tomorrow in the league and they stand to benefit most from our efforts."

Mets' News Good and Bad

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets had both good and bad news Sunday.

The good news was the play of shortstop Ted Martinez, who a few weeks ago had been benched for his poor fielding.

"Ted seems a lot more at ease now than when we first put him in there," said New York Manager Yogi Berra of Martinez' performance in the Mets' 6-0 victory over San Francisco.

Martinez had a single, double and triple and drove in four runs. It was quite a different day than the kind he had when he first replaced the injured Bud Harrelson at shortstop. Martinez made five errors in his first five games.

"Maybe we should have started Martinez on the road instead of at home," Berra said. "The way he's playing now, when Harrelson comes back, we might put Martinez at third and that makes our bench strength that much stronger."

While Martinez' performance was cheering, Seaver's condition at the end of the game was not.

Seaver, bothered recently by a strained sciatic nerve in his left hip, aggravated the injury and had to leave the game after five innings.

The injury could cost Seaver a turn in the starting rotation.

"I'd like to pitch Friday," said Seaver who won his third straight game to even his record at 6-6. "We're playing well right now and I'd hate to have to miss a turn."

Seaver had little pressure from the Giants who managed only two hits against Seaver and one more against reliever Bob Apodaca.

The Mets, meanwhile jumped all over San Francisco starter Ron Bryant, a 24-game winner last year who is having troubles this year and has lost seven straight in falling to a 2-11 mark.

Bryant failed to last the first inning when the Mets scored five of their runs.

"Bryant's been a victim of circumstance all year," said new Giant manager Wes Westrum. "But the wins are going to come back to him."

By the time Apodaca came in, the Mets had things well in hand.

"It was a real switch," said Apodaca. "I'm not used to coming in with us having a five-run lead."

* * *

You really have to hand it to Mike Marshall. Actually, that's just what Walt Alston has been doing all year.

The dean of major league baseball managers handed the ball to the dean of major league relief pitchers again Sunday—and Marshall came through with his usual boring consistency.

Appearing in his 56th and 57th games this season, Marshall recorded his 12th and 13th saves as the Dodgers took a doubleheader from the Montreal Expos, 4-1 and 5-3.

Marshall, a strongman who recently set a record of appearing in 13 straight games, gets better with age—and competition.

"That the man is trying to get a hit off me and the other club is trying to beat me is the only incentive I need to do my best," Marshall said.

An unemotional Marshall dispatched his former teammates Sunday with cool professionalism. Marshall was traded from the Expos to the Dodgers last winter for center fielder Willie Davis.

In the other National League games, the Chicago Cubs nipped the Atlanta Braves 4-3; the Philadelphia Phillies stopped the San Diego Padres 9-3; the New York Mets blanked the San Francisco Giants 6-0; the Pittsburgh Pirates turned back the Houston Astros 6-4 in 10 innings, and the Cincinnati Reds took two from the St. Louis Cardinals, 2-4 and 11-2.

Cubs 4, Braves 3

Rick Monday blasted a two-run homer in the seventh inning to power Chicago over Atlanta despite Hank Aaron's 725th career homer. Monday's blast followed Don Kessinger's one-out single off loser Buzz Capra, 9-3.

Phillies 9, Padres 3

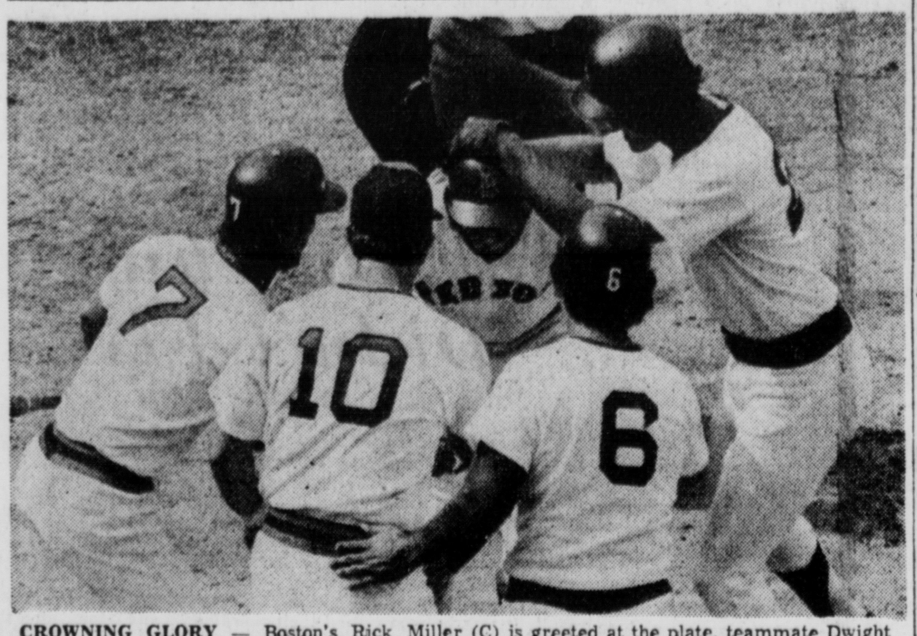

Philadelphia scored nine runs in the first four innings and Jim Lonborg coasted to his 11th victory of the season with an easy decision over San Diego.

Pirates 6, Astros 4

Bob Robertson's two-run homer in the 10th inning boosted Pittsburgh over Houston.

Reds 2-11, Cardinals 1-2

Cesar Geronimo drove in two runs with a double and tie-breaking homer to lead Cincinnati over St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader. Darrel Chaney hit the first grand-slam home run of his career and Don Gullett pitched his second straight complete game, leading Cincinnati's second-game victory.

CROWNING GLORY — Boston's Rick Miller (C) is greeted at the plate, teammate Dwight Evans (R) hitting his helment as others congratulate him, after belting grand slam in sixth inning Sunday in Fenway Park. Left to right: Rick Burleson (holding bat), Bob Montgomery and Rico Petrocelli. It was all for naught; the Royals won, 11-9 in 10 innings. (UPI)

Hargan Responded

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Rangers were down about as low as they had been all season.

They had dropped three straight games including back-to-back poundings, 14-2 and 9-3, by the New York Yankees. On his way to the park Sunday night, Steve Hargan realized it was up to him to bail the Rangers out.

"I try not to think about those things too much because there is enough pressure on a starting pitcher without worrying about winning streaks or losing streaks," said Hargan. "But I made up my mind before the game that I had to be extra good tonight to get us out of our slump. We just had to win."

So Hargan hurled the Rangers to a 3-2 victory.

"It was up to me to hold the Yankees down enough for us to win—no matter what it took," he said. "I had good stuff and an excellent change on my slider. When I needed the strikeout, I got it."

Running his record to 7-4 with his fourth straight victory, Hargan gave up nine hits, walked three and struck out three.

The key out, however, came in the fourth inning when former Ranger Bill Sudakis pinch hit for Fernando Gonzalez with the bases loaded and two out.

"I really had never pitched to Sudsy except in spring training, so I didn't know what to throw him," said Hargan. "I called Dave Nelson (the second baseman) over and asked for suggestions. I got him to pop up on an off-speed breaking ball."

The Rangers purchased Hargan from Cleveland's Oklahoma City farm club last December.

Texas manager Billy Martin declined to call it a must victory for the Rangers, who had lost three straight and dropped below .500 for the first time since May 29, but he noted:

"Last night after we lost so badly again, five or six of us just sat around in the dugout for a long time just staring into space. We knew we were going bad and knew what needed to be corrected.

Being sent to the minors was a good thing for Bart Johnson but his return to the majors could be even better for the Chicago White Sox.

"I was disappointed, but it was probably the best thing that happened to me because I wouldn't have been used much and you can't develop consistency that way," Johnson said Sunday of his banishment to the minors after spending two full seasons and parts of three others with the White Sox.

"He could be the man we need to go all the way," Manager Chuck Tanner chortled after Johnson, a 6-foot-5 right-hander who was recalled Friday, fired a two-hitter and beat the Detroit Tigers 3-1.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Cleveland Indians trimmed the California Angels 6-2, the Boston Red Sox snapped a five-game losing streak by defeating Kansas City 5-3 after the Royals took the doubleheader opener 11-9 in 10 innings, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Oakland A's 4-1, the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Minnesota Twins 8-5 but dropped the nightcap 5-3 in 11 innings and the Texas Rangers edged the New York Yankees 3-2.

Johnson allowed a home run to Norm Cash in the second inning, struck out nine and retired 20 batters in a row before Mickey Stanley singled in the ninth.

Indians 6, Angels 2

Home runs by John Ellis, George Hendrick and Oscar Gamble in the eighth inning powered the red-hot Cleveland Indians and Jim Perry over the hapless Angels.

Royals 11-3, Red Sox 9-5

Dwight Evans' sacrifice fly and Rico Petrocelli's pinch RBI double in the eighth inn0ng enabled the Red Sox to end a five-game losing streak in the second game. The wild opener was marked by 32 hits, 12 walks and six errors. Hal McRae and Fran Healy drove in winning 10th-inning runs for the Royals with a single and sacrifice fly.

Orioles 4, A's 1

Paul Blair and Don Baylor slammed home runs for Baltimore in support of Dave McNally's five-hit pitching.

Brewers 8-3, Twins 5-5

Minnesota scored twice in the 11th inning of the nightcap on Steve Brye's tie-breaking double and a single by Bobby Darwin. Mike Hegan's three-run double with two out in the seventh inning, only the second hit off Ray Corbin, rallied Milwaukee to an 8-5 victory in the first game.

Gaylord Goes for '16'

OAKLAND (AP) — Cleveland's Gaylord Perry has started losing sleep over his assault on the American League consecutive season victory record of 16.

He attempts to tie the mark shared by four hurlers tonight against the World Champion Oakland A's.

Perry, who until last week repeatedly has said he was taking them one game at a time, napped for only a half hour instead of his normal 45 minutes before his 15th straight win in Milwaukee.

"I feel the pressure," the 35-year-old Cy Young Award winner said. "It keeps building up, more and more."

"Actually, I think I pitch better when I'm under pressure," he added. "When the adrenaiin gets flowing, I seem to pitch better. I don't know why, that's just the way it is for me."

Perry has to be extra careful with the A's. Since coming to the American League, Perry's record against the Oakland club is 2-8.

The Indians have trouble with the A's. In 15 encounters here since 1971, Cleveland has won only three.

Perry's only loss this season was a 6-1 defeat on opening day to the Yankees in New York.

The American League record is shared by Walter Johnson and Joseph Wood, both in 1912, and Lefty Grove, 1931, and Lynwood Rowe, 1934.

National League pitcher Richard Marquard holds the major league consecutive season victory record with 19, which he accomplished in 1912.

Brewers and Ho-Jo's Pull Away From Pack

SAUGERTIES

Undefeated Boo's Brewers and once-beaten Howard Johnson's pulled away from the pack in the Saugerties Softball League's B Division as each swept through the week with a pair of victories.

Boo's dumped the Fire Department, 14-4, and the West Saugerties Wizards, 11-2, while the HoJos whipped Ted's Exxon, 11-7 and blanked the Wizards, 7-0.

Larry Panella won both decisions for the Brewers, scattering six hits against the Firemen and allowing only two to the Wizards. Panella also drilled a homer versus Smokeater Jack Hillje and got additional circuit support from Tom Hallion.

HoJo Wayne Dederick helped Wes Finger pick up his fourth and fifth victories with three hits against the Wizards and four RBI's in the Exxon battle.

Miuccio Dead

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Dom Miuccio died at State University Hospital Saturday of injuries suffered in a race car crash June 29th at the Oswego Speedway.

Miuccio, 25, of suburban Mattydale, was hurt badly when his super-modified race car flipped over on its side on the first turn in the track and crashed into a retaining wall.

The roll bars on Miuccio's car collapsed around him, trapping him inside the machine. Officials said Miuccio's head was pinned between his car and the retaining wall.

Dr. Kovacs Captures WGC President's Cup

KINGSTON — Dr. Chalres Kovacs of Poughkeepsie extracted net rounds of 66 and 72 from Wiltwyck Golf Club's plush layout to win the club's 1974 President Cup competition with a 36-hole net of 138.

Dr. Kovacs fashioned rounds of 38-40-78 and 84 on his own ball to lead runnerup Dr. Milton Ratner by three strokes. Dr. Ratner, a 22-handicapper, had net 68-73-141.

Sid Halperin played with 14 handicap to finish all alone in third place with 72-70-142.

Paul Johnson (68-75) and Dan Potter (73-70) shared a tie at 143. Johnson played with 15 handicap, Potter with 10.

Jerry Gruberg and Gerald Overbagh, a pair of 12 handicap performancers, shared a tie at 144 with Jack Parnett, who plays with six handicap. Gruberg had net rounds of 72-72, Overbagh 72-72 and Parnett 71-73.

Bruce Davis (13) and Bob Thomas (12) tied with 145. Davis fashioned 76-69 and Thomas had 74-71.

Six players tied at net 146 — Robert T. Brown, Bob Casavant, Joe Dulin, George Antonietta, Robert O. Merritt and Marty Hammer.

Paul Johnson used 13 handicap strokes to finish two feet from the 19th cup and win first place in the men's Flag Day tournament at Wiltwyck. Dr. Milton Ratner, 22 handicap, was runnerup, 5 feet from the 19th hole.

Dr. Henry Jacobs and Robert T. Brown, a pair of seven handicappers, finished 9 feet and 10 feet, respectively, from the 19th cup. Harold Van Aken ended 30 feet from the 19th cup with his five handicap strokes.

Rounding out the leaders were: Jack Parentt (6 handicap) drive on 19th hole; George Antionietta (13 handicap) drive on 19th.

Pat Davenport was the women's Flag Day leader, winding up 10 feet from the 18th green with her 24 handicap strokes. Runnerup was Marlene Gogg, 23 handicap, with a drive on the 18th hole.

Smith aced the 169-yard hole with a perfect 4-iron shot. Playing with him at the time were his proud father, Brian, and Harvey Bostic Jr., son of the Wiltwyck Club professional.

Rosner's Oasis Unbeaten In SSL's 'C' Division

SAUGERTIES — Rosner's Oasis, down four runs entering the sixth inning, rallied for six runs to sweep past the Gunjah Warriors in the C Division of the Saugerties Softball League and went on to post a 12-8 victory and remain the undefeated divisional leader after six games.

In other C contests, Pepperidge Farm bowed to Mark IV Printing, 12-10, bounced back to defeat Sperl's Pakkers, 8-4, but lost its third game of the week, 12-9 to Everready Beverages.

Steve Haun, Chang Myer and Butch Myer swung the big bats behind Albert Scott's complete game for Rosner's. Haun had three hits and drove in three runs, Butch Myer knocked in two, and Chang Myer doubled and tripled. Scott blanked the Warriors over the last three frames to sink the losers to 2-4.

The Printers, in a game shortened by rain, got key hitting by Rich Franchini, Lyn Barlow and Mike Abate. The Farmers, however, regained their timing against Al Sperl as Bill and Tom Maines led a 14-hit attack.

Ray Scally's homer, double and single drove in four runs and helped keep Everready in second place with a 4-2 mark. Pepperidge slipped to 2-4 at week's end while the Printers were 3-2, the Warriors were 2-4 and the Pakkers were 0-5.

Sea Raiders Open Season Defeating Zena, 286-173

RED HOOK — The Red Hook Sea Raiders opened their Bi-Valley Swim League season here with a 286-173 victory over visiting Zena in a meet that saw ten Rec Park records fall.

Raider Dave Martin and Zena's Rex Herman were the individual standouts for their respective teams as each raced to three wins and set two records each in the process.

The radiders were deeper, however, and took a lead in freestyle and never lost it. Kelly Mosher and Mike Mosher also nailed down triples wins while Julie Theberge, Joan Lynch, Sharon Thomas, Ann Hock, Doug Theberge and Tom Rancich added two victories each to Red Hook's total.

In the books with new marks were Hoch in the 50 yard free, Thomas in the 50 backstroke and the 100 individual medley, Barbara Skiba in the 50 breaststroke and Lynch in the 12 and under 100 IM.

Martin posted his record-setting times in the 25 breaststroke and the 25 butterfly. Also for Zena, Pat McCooey set a 50 yard ten and under mark in the freestyle.

Red Hook ran away with 34 first places to 18 for Zena and ended the meet with victories in all but one of the eight relay races.

Davis Charges In Fresno Bowl

FRESNO (AP) — Dave Davis, whose last victory was in 1970, charged to the lead as the match game finals began in the $47,000 Fresno Open Bowling Tournament.

Davis, a 12-time Professional Bowlers Association winner, registered 1,902 pins on games of 249, 247, 226, 248, 225, 235, 237 and 235 through Sunday's competition to pull ahead of Earl Anthony, Tacoma, Wash., by 102 pins.

In the head-to-head finals of PBA competition, the winner of each match receives 30 bonus points. As the 24-man finals line-up moved into today's final two blocks of games, Anthony, trying for his fourth victory of the year, had 6,301 pins—two less than Davis.

Anthony was in first place earlier Sunday afternoon when the starting line-up of 160 bowlers was trimmed to 24.

Girls Softball Results

KINGSTON — Home runs by Mary O'Connor and Linda Whittaker paved the way for the Starlings' 11-4 upset over the Sparrows as the Sparrows took their first defeat in the Esopus Girl's Softball League.

The Starlings pounded out 12 hits to beat the 11-strikeout effort of Maureen Donnelly. Mary O'Conner, backed by a strong infield, got the win on a six-hitter with fire strikeouts.

In other Esopus battles, the Eagles won twice, and the Sandpipers won once. The Eagles downed the Buzzards, 9-8, and the Blue Jays, 18-15, while the Sandpipers also whipped the Buzzards, 22-15.

Stacy Melville picked up both Eagle victories, beating the Buzzards on a six-hitter and getting plenty of hitting support against the Jays. The Eagle bats were led by Inga Sarda who belted a homer, a double and two singles, and by Pam Emercik who smacked a homer and two singles to help defeat the Jays.

Sandpiper pitcher Kathy Moxham hit two doubles, a single and scored four runs to lead her team to victory. Patty Van Loan added three hits to the winners' total.

Lions and Davenport's Rondout BR Winners

KYSERIKE — Two hits are seldom enough to win one game let alone two. That fact Lomontville demonstrated in the Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League as it dropped a 20-1 game to the Lions Club and a 17-4 contest with Davenport's.

Bob Smith surrendered only a seventh inning single as he pitched the Lions to an easy win. Smith fanned ten and walked eight and almost had his no-hitter until Lomontville's John Nadratowski broke it up in the final frame.

Tom Tocherman was one of five Lomontville hurlers to take a pounding, but he was tabbed with the loss. Gerry Shaver cracked two doubles and two singles to pace the Lions' attack.

Greg Passer and Terry Lawrence combined to likewise check Lomontville on one hit. In a game marred by several errors and called after five innings due to darkness, Davenport's jumped out to a 4-1 lead in the first and piled it on.

Lawrence got the win despite some control problems. Lomontville's Frank Groeters took the loss.

The line scores:
Lomontville ..... 001 000 0— 1
Lions Club ..... 222 210 0—20

Davenport's ..... 446 30—17
Lomontville ..... 120 10— 4

POUGHKEEPSIE — The United States Slo-Pitch Softball Association (USSSA) Hudson Valley Area Tournament will be held at Spratt Park here on Saturday and Sunday, July 27 and 28, and succeeding weekends if necessary.

Entry fee for this single elimination tournament is $50, and checks or money orders must be received by Bill Hald, 14 Split Tree Drive, Wappingers Falls, 12590, no later than July 18. Checks and money orders should be made payable to Bill Hald.

The tournaments first four finishers will qualify for either the USSSA Eastern Class A World Tournament in Louisville, Ky., or the Class B World Tournament in Kingston, N. C. Both national events will take place over the Labor Day weekend. The top three teams in the Class A event will qualify for the 1975 USSA World Series.

Additional information may be obtained from tournament director Dan McNamara, 8 Old English Way, Wappingers Falls (297-5830), or from Bill Hald (297-7647).

When you ride in an Audi 100LS you'll be impressed with the following:

An aura of dignity because the car has just about the same headroom and legroom as England's Rolls-Royce Silver Shadow.

An uncanny feeling of precision because it has the same type of reliable ignition system as Germany's Porsche 911. And the same kind of efficient heating and ventilation system as her Mercedes-Benz 280SE.

A flair for handling because it has the same type of steering system as Italy's racing Ferrari.

And astonishing practicality because it has the same trunk space as America's Lincoln Continental Mark IV. And front-wheel drive like her Cadillac Eldorado.

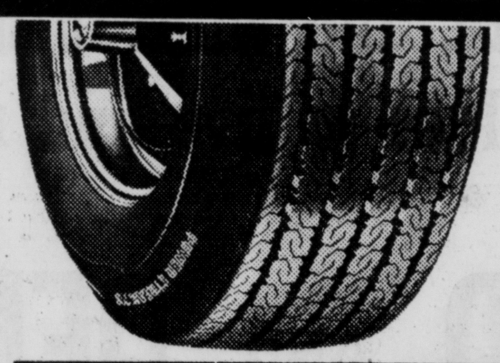

When you ride in an Audi you get the best England, Germany, Italy and America have to offer.

The Audi 100LS.

'Fatal-Free' Fourth for Ulster Area

KINGSTON — As the national traffic death toll climbed toward the upper limits of pre-holiday estimates today, the Ulster County area remained free of fatal auto accidents when the 102-hour Fourth of July weekend came to an official close at midnight Sunday.

A Red Hook man did die in an auto crash in Rhinebeck Saturday — but that death was ruled as natural due to a heart attack preceding the mishap. Several personal injury accidents were reported in the area, however.

A United Press International County showed that at least 25 persons died in highway mishaps in New York State during the four-day holiday period. And by noon today, the national roadway fatality count had passed 520, reaching 524.

Nearly 160 drownings were reported in the 50 states, with at least 17 drowning victims reported in New York.

Plane and other mishaps brought the national accidental toll for the holiday period to at least 764.

Before the long Fourth of July weekend began, the National Safety Council estimated between 450 and 550 persons would be killed on U.S. highways between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday.

One New York fatality was reported late Sunday on the New England section of the Thruway in Westchester County when a 17-year-old girl was killed when the motorcycle on which she had hitched a ride slammed into the rear of a car.

Troopers said Michele Stelling of Rye suffered a broken neck in the crash near Mamaroneck. She had hitched a ride on a motorcycle operated by Robert McShaw, 32, of Greenwich Conn., police said. He was reported in fair condition at an area hospital following the mishap.

Locally, Richard Bauer, 55, of Red Hook died Saturday when his pickup truck crashed on Route 199 in Rhinebeck. Dr. William Bennett, Dutchess County Medical Examiner ruled the death as natural, however, after listing the cause of death as a myocardial infraction.

The mishap occurred at about 8:30 a.m. on the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge approach. Police said the truck ran off the road, slammed into guard rails, a sign and a tree, traveling more than 300 feet off the highway.

In another area mishap, two persons were injured late Saturday in the Town of Wawarsing when the car in which they were riding struck a horse that ran across the roadway.

Ellenville troopers said Stephen Wagner, 23, of Briggs Highway, Ellenville, was driving east on Briggs Highway at about 11:30 p.m. when the horse crossed the road in front of his vehicle.

Wagner's car slammed into the horse, which was hurled over the hood of the car and shattered the windshield, resulting in lacerations to Wagner and his wife, Celeste, 22. Both were taken to Ellenville Community Hospital where they were treated and discharged.

Troopers said the horse had run off from the Fox Hill Ranch near where the mishap occurred. The animal died.

Meanwhile, a 15-year-old Hurley girl, Susan Albrecht, was listed in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital suffereing from injuries sustained Saturday Afternoon when she reportedly rode her bicycle into the path of a car on Route 209 Hurley near Russell Road.

State Police identified the driver of the car as Corliss Sedaker, 82, of 238 Albany Avenue, Kingston. No summonses were issued.

Matteawan Scheme On Cheating Inmates

NEW YORK (AP) — A state investigation indicates that inmates of Matteawan State Hospital for the criminally insane are being cheated by commissary employes who charge them for non-existent commissary items, according to published reports.

Today's editions of both the New York Times and Daily News said they had access to information in a confidential, unreleased report of state Controller Arthur Levitt.

The newspapers said the report outlined a scheme that used inmates so disturbed that they were unable to keep track of their resources.

Ex-inmates who worked in the commissary said Department of Correction personnel would force them to prepare purchase orders in the names of the mentally incompetent inmates, sign the orders and have the items charged to the inmates' accounts.

But the correction officers would actually sell the merchandise or take it out for their own personal use, the confidential report was quoted. Social Security or veterans' checks also were often deposited to inmates' accounts so they could buy such things as food, radios and cigarettes, said the publishing newspaper articles.

Peter Prieser, state commissioner of correctional services, said irregularities existed, but said corrective action has been taken.

The report from Levitt's office said at one point purchase orders indicated that 111 watches and 139 radios were sold, while only 74 watches and 87 radios were listed as available for sale during that period.

An audit showed inmates were overcharged $12,235 while $4,178 worth of merchandise disappeared during a recent six-month period.

The hospital, in Beacon, houses 927 persons, including convicted men and women who are mentally ill, retarded, handicapped, or elderly and persons too mentally disturbed to stand trial.

It was recently renamed the Fishkill Correctional Facility.

Youth Skirts Customs With $250,000 in Cocaine

NEW YORK (AP) — A 17-year-old youth who successfully smuggled $250,000 worth of cocaine in two false-bottomed suitcases through U.S. Customs at Kennedy Airport customs was arrested later in Queens, police said.

A spokesman for U.S. Customs said the youth had gone through a baggage check and physical search shortly after his arrival from Germany.

"Neither checked out and he was turned loose," the spokesman said. "We plan a full-fledged investigation."

The customs officials had been informed by police to be on the lookout for a young freckled Colombia woman on the Lufthansa Airlines flight from Munich, the spokesman said.

Torres was the only Spanish-speaking person on the flight, but he passed the inspection, customs officials said.

Torres was picked up by city police in the Woodside section of Queens where he had gone by taxi. He allegedly had 1½ kilograms—about 3.3 pounds—of cocaine in each of the two suitcases.

Police charged Torres with criminal possession of a controlled substance.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to slide today, with the cost of money evidently still on the rise.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down close to a point, and losers opened up a 2-1 lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted unhappiness on Wall Street over Federal Reserve data released after Friday's close, which showed a steep $1.1 billion increase in business loans at major New York banks for the latest reporting week.

That increase, the fourth sizeable advance in a row, suggested that demand for money—and hence upward pressure on interest rates—was persisting at a heavy pace, analysts said.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

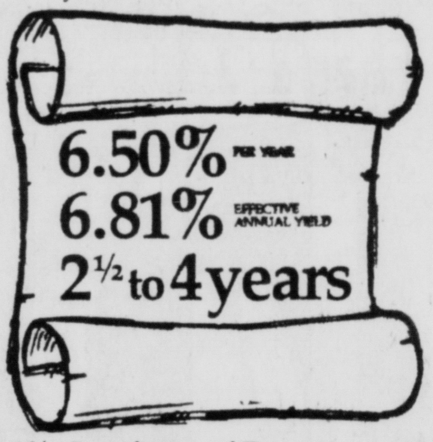

Providing an uncommon defense

One sure way to fight inflation is to make your money grow faster than inflation. Citizens of the united state of Marine Midland have three weapons to choose from, high yield Savings Certificates from the Revolutionary Bank:

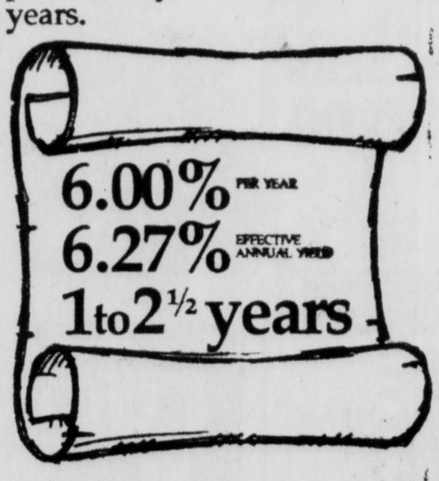

7¼% Certificate of Deposit, compounded daily, yields 7.63% annually. A minimum of $1000 or more must be kept on deposit for anywhere from 4 to 7 years. Your choice, within that maturity range.

6½% Certificate of Deposit, compounded daily, yields 6.81% annually. A minimum of $500 or more must be kept on deposit for anywhere from 2½ to 4 years.

6% Certificate of Deposit, compounded daily, yields 6.27% annually. A minimum of $500 or more must be kept on deposit for anywhere from 1 to 2½ years.

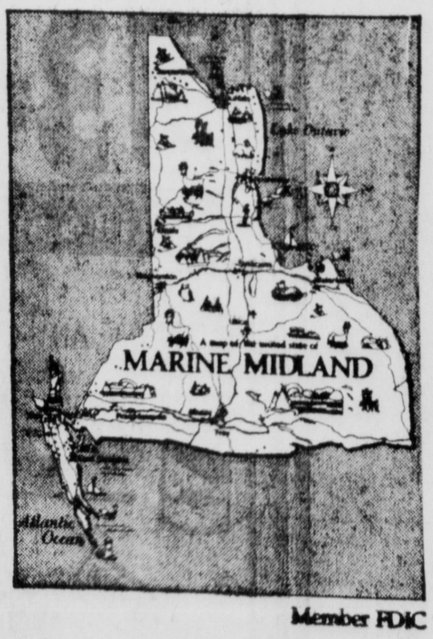

Of course, Federal regulations prohibit payment of such time deposits prior to maturity, unless three months interest is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the lowest savings account rate.

But, these high rates of interest are otherwise guaranteed to Marine Midlanders by the Revolutionary Bank, and your savings are protected by the FDIC.

Uncommonly high inflation demands an uncommon defense against this threat to your financial independence. Choose your weapons... high yield Savings Certificates... at your nearby Marine Midland Bank.

We are close at hand.

The revolutionary bank for independent people.

Van Buren...Neglected by History

KINDERHOOK, N.Y. (AP) — Martin Van Buren may finally get his presidential monument.

After 112 years with nothing more than an historical marker at his home and a wreath at his grave, a federal agency has begun purchasing Van Buren's old estate as a prelude to converting it into a public monument pending Congressional approval.

History has neglected America's eighth president. Even this tiny upstate Hudson River village, Van Buren's hometown, has pretty much forgotten that a president once walked its streets.

Village residents appear more concerned that the public accept their claim that Kinderhook was the Sleepy Hollow of Washington Irving's classic legend than with being from the hometown of a forgotten president.

Van Buren's birthplace—his parents' tavern—was torn down in the 1920s, reportedly because residents here considered it an eyesore.

The Martin Van Buren Hall, a collection of memorabilia, in the Columbia County Historical Society's House of history has been relegated to the basement, next to the bathrooms.

Even Congress has been apathetic toward the man who served as Andrew Jackson's vice president, secretary of state, and minister to England, as well as a U.S. senator and New York governor.

Legislation to restore Lindenwald, Van Buren's estate, has been before Congress on several occasions with no action taken. The local historical society's drive to turn Lindenwald into a monument dates back to the 1930s.

Robert Davidson, chairman of the Lindenwald Preservation Committee, said he blamed politics on the lack of Congressional action. But he admits that the goal of restoring the Van Buren home is closer to realization now than ever before.

"Lindenwald is looked upon as a nice old house, but it actually has much more significance than the (Franklin D.) Roosevelt estate," Davidson said.

The current bill before Congress would turn Van Buren's home into the same type of memorial as the Roosevelt estate located down river in Hyde Park, N.Y., Davidson said.

"Van Buren was the first president to be a native born citizen of the United States," Davidson said. "His thinking must have been that 'I have no ties to any other country'. He was the first of his kind. I think that's quite significant."

There is not much left of Van Buren here. There are no known direct descendants left in Kinderhook, and Lindenwald, now occupied by an elderly antique dealer, is deteriorating. Several of the auxiliary buildings have collapsed, including the shed housing the first bathtub ever brought into Columbia County—one of Van Buren's lesser known accomplishments.

The home left the Van Buren Family shortly after Martin's death. According to local historians, Van Buren's son lost the home in a poker game to the father of Winston Churchill's mother.

The Lindenwald Preservation Committee has been comprised of a solid core of Kinderhook residents dedicated to their cause, Davidson said. Sometimes only two or three others have helped fight the battle. "Sometimes it does get discouraging," he said.

One local history buff got so discouraged with all the obstacles that she quit working on the project, she said. "It's been on the fire so long and nothing ever happened. Public interest in it is not so great around here," she said.

But interest in Van Buren appears to be on the rise, according to Margaret Richardson, curator of the House of History. "Requests about Van Buren have been coming in more and more frequently. I don't know the reason."

A recent novel dealing with the rumor that Van Buren was actually the son of Aaron Burr may have prompted the recent surge in his popularity, she said.

Except for a White House wreath which is placed on the former president's grave during a ceremony every December, Van Buren is pretty much forgotten, the curator said.

The ceremony which drew about 30 people last year, has been known to attract only two or three spectators in the recent past, local historians said.

Summer Enrollment Up at DCC

POUGHKEEPSIE — In contrast to the enrollment slump that has struck many colleges and universities, Dutchess Community College's summer session has attracted a record number of area students.

A total of 1,785 students — an eight per cent increase over 1973 — registered for day and evening classes at Dutchess, according to Gary C. Pfeifer, summer session director.

Classes began late in June as the college returned to its 14 hour-per-day operating schedule with 125 courses and sections being offered at the main campus and at several off-campus locations.

Among the off-campus sites for summer instruction are Castle Point Veterans' Hospital, Hudson River State Hospital, Wassaic State School, the Putnam County BOCES Center and Pawling and Rhinebeck High Schools.

Intensive study in Spanish and Italian is being offered at overseas locations in cooperation with universities in Santander, Spain and Urbino, Italy.

The summer session also includes 45 students enrolled in an eight-week remedial program offered in two phases, the Summer College Admission Preparatory Program.

16 Officers and Inmates Injured in N. J. Clash

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Isolated incidents, including the stabbing of a guard, continued this weekend at Trenton State Prison's troubled Vroom Building, where 16 corrections officers and inmates were injured in a blood clash.

The guard, Walter L. Perry, 37, of Trenton, who was stabbed Saturday in a shower room, was in fair condition Sunday at St. Francis Medical Center.

A spokesman for the state Department of Institutions and Agencies, which operates the prison, said Perry was stabbed by Harold Miller, 23, of Newark, who is serving a sentence for manslaughter.

Miller was subdued with chemical Mace, the spokesman said, and was returned to the prison after being treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises suffered when he was subdued by guards coming to Perry's aid.

Recreation periods at the Vroom Building, which is located on the grounds of Trenton State Psychiatric Hospital, have been suspended until the completion of repairs to the building following a disturbance Friday.

A prison spokesman said it would take two weeks to repair the $2,000 worth of damage to windows, screens, and window bars. The inmates allegedly used the bars as weapons during Friday's disturbance and held screens as shields.

Five inmates and 11 guards were injured in the clash, which began when the inmates refused to leave the walled recreation area. When 20 guards entered the yard to return the inmates to their cells a 10-minute clash ensued.

Six Slain in Brooklyn

No Holiday for Murder

NEW YORK (UPI) — In one of the worst recent outbreaks of violence, six persons were murdered in four separate incidents in Brooklyn during the Independence Day holiday weekend.

The worst case was the stabbing of a middle-aged couple and an elderly friend who had come from North Carolina to visit them. The bodies were found in an apartment Sunday.

Police said they still were searching for suspects in the deaths of Clifton Shipp, 55, a building contractor, his wife, Madeline, also 55, and a second man, tentatively identified as Jasper Krone, 74, of Troy, N.C.

Shipp's body had "numerous" stab wounds in the back, the nude body of Mrs. Shipp had three wounds in the chest possibly caused by an ice pick, and Krone's body was found with hands and legs bound, police said.

Police said Krone was apparently a friend of the family who traveled to New York from North Carolina with a sister of one of the victims.

In another slaying Sunday, two men plunged into a crowded municipal swimming pool in Brooklyn's Red Hook section and stabbed Louis Rodriguez, 23.

As the two men escaped, the profusely bleeding Rodriguez was carried from the pool and taken to Long Island College Hospital. He died about an hour later.

Police later arrested Hector Rosa, 24, on charges of murder. A spokesman said detectives are investigating the possibility Rodriguez may at one time have tipped off police to alleged drug dealing by the suspect.

In the fifth killing, police said the body of Aurora Ortez, 42, was found in an elevator of her apartment building early today with numerous stab wounds in the face, neck and body, the apparent victim of a lover's quarrel.

Her 18-year-old daughter, Esther Garcia, was stabbed once in the chest and taken to Green Point Hospital, apparently in satisfactory condition.

Police said they were searching for the woman's 60-year-old boyfriend.

The body of a man whose throat had been slit was found early today by firemen summoned to put out a fire in an apartment in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn.

Police said the victim, not yet identified, was found by firemen in a sixth-floor apartment. Death was attributed to the throat wound.

Also in Brooklyn, the sixth gangland-style incident in recent weeks was reported by police who said a 31-year-old man linked to the crime family of Joe Colombo was shot in the back early Sunday as he walked from a parked car to his home near Prospect Park.

Police said James Gilliberti was shot once in the back after two friends dropped him off near his home. He was taken to Maimonides Hospital where he was reported in fair condition.

Although police declined to say whether the incident was related to mob-style shootings in recent weeks that have left three men dead and two wounded, a spokesman confirmed that the crime had "gangland overtones."

NOTICE OF SALE
INDEX NO. 74/6

IN PURSUANCE of a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date of June 12, 1974, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said Judgment named, will sell at public auction at the front steps of the Ulster County Court House, 285 Wall Street, Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 7th day of August, 1974 at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, (Eastern Daylight Savings Time) of that day, the premises directed by said Judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

ALL THAT CERTAIN PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being in the Town of Wawarsing, County of Ulster, and State of New York, being lands of Herbert W. Schrauer and Alfred R. Kunz, known and designated as Lot #6, on a certain map entitled "Subdivision of Mountain Laurel Farms - Dairyland - Section Four, Town of Wawarsing, County of Ulster, State of New York", made by Roy H. Pauli, L.L.S., dated June 26, 1969, and filed in the Ulster County Clerk's Office as Map #2520 on September 16, 1969.

SUBJECT to the following restrictions:

Property shall be used for residential, agricultural or commercial purposes only.

No building shall be erected on any lot nearer than sixty feet to the front lot line, or nearer than thirty feet to any side or rear lot line. If two contiguous parcels are purchased they can be treated as one lot for the purposes of side line setback.

No portion of the premises herein conveyed shall be used for the maintenance of a junk yard, a lot or place for storage or sale of old automobiles, machinery, appliances, or building materials, or for storage of any unsightly or offensive material.

SUBJECT to Ulster County Department of Health regulations pertaining to this subdivision.

ALL lots shall be subject to utility easements as established or of record, or to be established of record, and to storm water easements and easements for the discharge of surface water, as now established or of record.

Any tent, shack, trailer, house trailer, or mobile home may be located on a wooded portion of a lot only, a minimum distance of 150 feet from the front lot line, and 75 feet from either side line.

BEING a portion of the premises conveyed by Edna G. Smith to Herbert W. Schrauer and Alfred R. Kunz by deed dated August 1, 1969 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on September 15, 1969 in Liber 1233 of Deeds at Page 123.

BEING the same premises conveyed by Herbert W. Schrauer and Alfred R. Kunz to Jesse James Stigler by deed dated June 24, 1970 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on July 9, 1970 in Liber 1245 of Deeds at Page 169.

The sale of the above premises is to be made subject to any and all taxes, tax sales, assessments, water and sewer rents due, if any, whether or not the same shall be past or current and to any amounts due on any prior mortgages of record whether for principal, interest, costs or any other item of expense in connection therewith, and to any state of facts that an accurate survey may show, covenants and restrictions of record, if any.

100 Year Old Country Colonial & Barn in Marbletown

2 Acres of magnificent trees surrounding a tastefully manicured lawn of unspoiled charm. The dream house nestled peacefully in this enchanting setting sits astride cut stone walls, and terraces. This quaint 3-bedroom meticulous rejuvenated American Farmhouse, still retains its old fashion warmth along with some of its old wavy glass windows. A new country kitchen and new carpeting throughout the house adds a touch of elegance; the living room fireplace is brick. A 2nd fireplace can be added to the existing kitchen chimney. This huge multi-level painted barn has a concrete floor and can be converted to a 2nd residence; drilled well and fruit trees, + 300' of road frontage in the desirable horsey area of Lyonsville, near Stone Ridge. A good home and a good investment, $49,500. Owner 687-9166.

LIKE TO SAVE?

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This will turn out to be a pleasant day for you when someone to whom you've been kind comes through in a big way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A hope that isn't materially based has a very good chance of becoming a reality quicker than you now think.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions favor you, and a person who can boost your work or career still looks upon you in a most favorable light.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Lady Luck is now looking over your shoulder. That's why you'll find fewer obstacles in your path than usual!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You will benefit now through something of a secretive nature. You won't feel like talking about it—and you shouldn't.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Should you be involved in a new project and a fair agreement is being made, chances are you'll come out well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll find those who have authority over you or the type of work you're doing hold you in high regard.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 2) You'll easily outpoll others where personal popularity is concerned, though you may not even be aware of it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Through you, something good will come that will have a very beneficial effect upon your family as a unit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have good reason to look optimistically upon things in general. Act as you think and you'll get desired results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today and tomorrow you'll be rather fortunate if you center your attention on ways of making money.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Keep your eye on the target. Convince yourself that what you're now going after is attainable, because it is.

your birthday

July 9, 1974

You will find yourself involved this year in things you may have felt were beyond your scope last year. Now you'll be able to handle them in stride.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

VERY PRETTY: (Comment) I have been told by teachers, girls, guys, parents and even total strangers how pretty I am. I have a pretty good figure, too. I never have many dates, though.

A lot of guys have told me they would like to go out with me. But few ask me out because they are so sure I have a thousand other guys after me.

It's really depressing. I almost wish I was uglier.—Down in the Dumps in Texas

(A.) No boy should assume that a girl is out of his reach just because she has a great face or a great figure. No girl should assume that a very handsome boy is too busy with other girls to be interested in her.

If a boy likes a girl and wants a date with her, he should ask her for one—no matter how dazzling she is. If a girl likes a boy, she should be friendly with him and give him an opportunity to be friendly with her—no matter how striking he is in appearance.

TWO AND ONE: (Q.) I'm between two people I'm very fond of. One is a good friend and the other is her off-and-on lover. Just recently he and I have been dating. Last night we went to a concert in a group. All evening she sat between us. For some reason I have a feeling something is going on between them again. But he gives me love an affection. —Wondering in Maryland

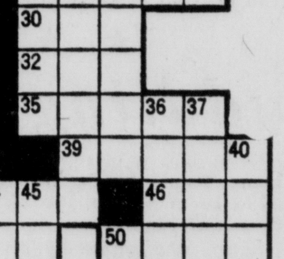

(A.) When you take on another girl's man, you take the chance that he will be taking you on without dropping her. It sounds to me as if that is your trouble. I am afraid you are in deep water and should get out of the boat and leave them to themselves.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "One of the standard defenses against artificial bids is the double to show that you have strenght in that suit. This is a rather dangerous toy in that there are occasions when it may boomerang against the user."

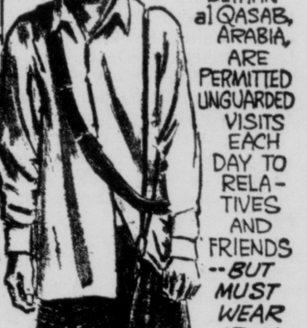

Jim: "You must have been playing some rubber bridge lately. I'll bet you have some rubber bridge hand as an example."

Oswald: "As a matter of fact, I have. I was playing at the Regency Club with John Rau, one of the great players of the Thirties. We play standard simple bidding so after I opened with a heart and raised spades, Johnny got right into Blackwood."

Jim: "So when you bid five hearts to show two aces East had to open his mouth and cry 'double'. Then, when you bid six diamonds to show one king it was easy for Johnny to decide that it was the king of diamonds and bid the grand slam."

Oswald: "The double was silly also. East should not expect to collect any heart tricks against a spade contract so there was no reason for him to ask for a heart lead."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

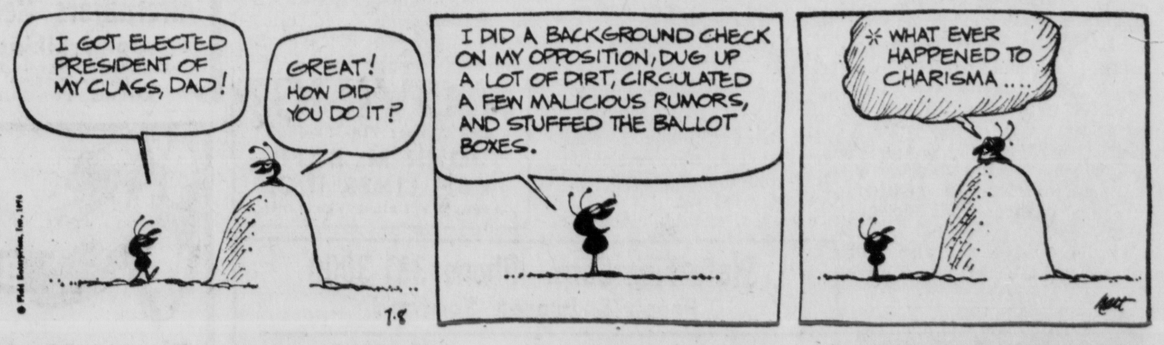

Robyn Smith was the first female jockey to win the stakes at Aqueduct Racetrack when she outdistanced the male jockeys on opening day March 1, 1973. In Spain on April 13, 1973, a 25-year-old woman named Angelita won the right to be a bullfighter, the World Almanac says. A policeman's daughter, she said her victory in a Madrid labor court was "a triumph for women's rights in general."

Impeachment Inquiry May Be in Last Lap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is entering what Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., hopes will be the final week of its impeachment inquiry with John W. Dean III as a key witness.

Dean, whose Senate testimony a year ago linking President Nixon to the Watergate cover-up helped start the march of events that led to the impeachment proceedings, is due to appear before the committee Tuesday or Wednesday.

Frederick C. LaRue, a former official in Nixon's re-election committee, continues his testimony today.

Dean is being called at the request of Nixon's impeachment lawyer, James D. St. Clair, who apparently hopes through cross-examination to discredit some of Dean's previous testimony.

However, St. Clair may be sharply restricted in the questions he can put to Dean because the committee inquiry is not a trial. The scope of his examination will be set by the committee.

St. Clair has told the committee he wants to question Dean only about his role in the payment of $75,000 to convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. and his discussion with Nixon on March 21, 1973, about demands for money by Hunt and other Watergate defendants.

However, by having Dean called, St. Clair has made it possible for the impeachment inquiry staff to range over his whole series of charges about White House involvement in the cover-up.

St. Clair is pinpointing his defense on the $75,000 payment, attempting to prove it was for legal fees, not hush money to keep Hunt from talking. But the inquiry staff has developed a much broader case, for which Dean might provide more detail.

The staff already has gone far beyond the March 21 events with LaRue, also called at St. Clair's suggestion.

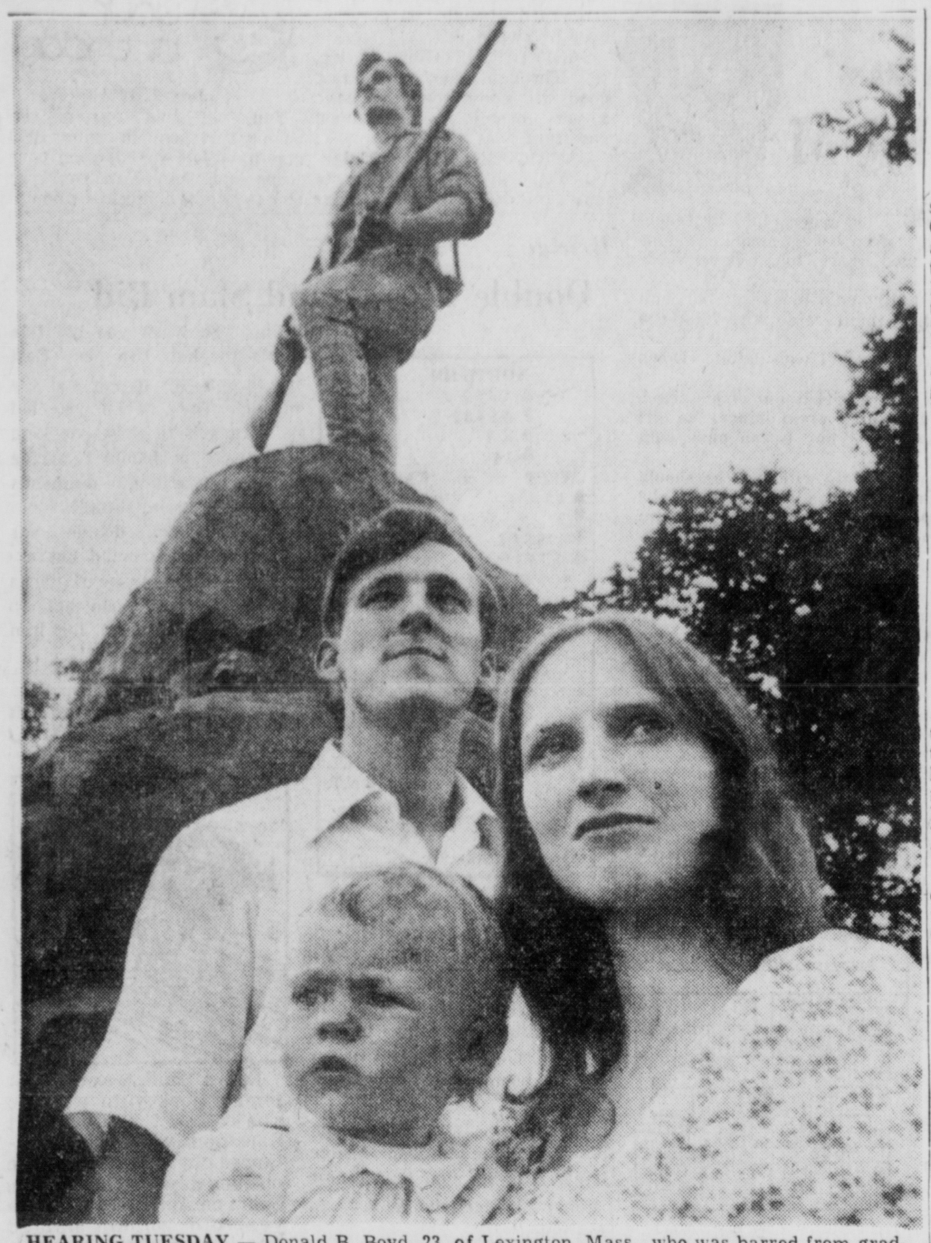

LaRue delivered the $75,000 payment to Hunt's lawyer, and St. Clair wants to question him only about that. But LaRue, who has pleaded guilty to conspiracy to obstruct justice, delivered a total of $230,000 from a White House fund to Watergate defendants, and the staff is questioning him about that.

LaRue spent nearly two hours on the stand Friday and will be back today when the hearings resume at 3 p.m. The starting time was postponed to allow St. Clair to make his argument before the Supreme Court in the White House tapes case brought by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

LaRue is to be followed as a witness by William O. Bittman, Hunt's lawyer who received the $75,000 from LaRue. He is not expected to be before the committee long, and then Dean will take over.

Chief Counsel John Doar has only two more witnesses to call—Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen and Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal lawyer. Kalmbach will be brought from jail, where he is serving a six-month sentence for illegal campaign fund solicitation.

The committee's schedule calls for examination of witnesses to end by Friday and for deliberation on proposed articles of impeachment to begin July 15.

HEARING TUESDAY — Donald B. Boyd, 23, of Lexington, Mass., who was barred from graduating from West Point because he was married, stands with his wife Joanne and Daughter Christin, in front of the historic Minute Man statue in Lexington. He will be given a hearing in a federal court in New York City Tuesday on his contention that the academy's regulation against cadets marrying is unconstitutional. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Congress Time Running Out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With six months left in the 93rd Congress, and the prospect of an impeachment vote and trial, time is running out for the House and Senate to achieve the legislative goals it set 18 months ago.

A number of major goals announced for the 93rd Congress probably will have to be bequeathed to the 94th, which takes office in January.

In addition to delays that would be caused by impeachment, the prospect of a "veto proof" Congress is blocking so legislation.

Democrats and Republicans concede Watergate is going to cost the GOP in the fall elections and Congress may be in a position to override any veto of President Nixon's next year. As a result, some controversial bills may not be pushed hard this session.

Two major victims could be national health insurance and tax reform.

The House Ways and Means Committee has not yet approved either although it has been working on both.

A third bill that appears in trouble involves trade reform. The President can have it but only at the price of a rider denying Russia most favored nation treatment unless it permits unrestricted emigration of Jews.

Also in trouble, this time for a completely different reason than in the past, is a multibillion dollar package of federal aid to education.

Senate-House negotiators appear deadlocked on busing. The House demands a prohibition against busing a student past the second nearest school and allowing all school districts, now busing under court order, to revamp their plans to meet the proposed criteria.

The Senate, backed by labor and the NAACP, wants to restrict the "second nearest" concept to future cases and then only if the Supreme Court permits such a policy.

Two major bills, however, appear headed for passage.

The House Administration Committee has approved a political campaign reform bill that includes strict limits on candidate spending and political contributions plus taxpayer financing of presidential elections. A similar bill has already passed the Senate.

The other bill, already worked out by Senate-House negotiators, is a broad reform of private pension programs.

Campaign and pension reform, plus possibly an omnibus housing bill, may stand as the major achievements that the 93rd Congress still can accomplish, barring a breakthrough on other bills.

Detente Troubles Blamed On Washington 'Hawks'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is the "hawks" in Congress and in the military, and not the Kremlin leaders, who have made it more difficult for President Nixon to pursue East-West detente, says Sen. J. William Fulbright.

Describing a nation "in great disarray," the outgoing chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee said Congress now was dominated by promilitary forces led by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

The lame duck Arkansas Democrat was asked if he thought the Soviets had taken advantage of Nixon's domestic political weakness in order to avoid any new commitment to strategic arms limitation.

"I rather think that his weakness is exploited more by our own, what we call 'hawks', I mean the military and some of the leaders in Congress, than it is by the Russians," Fulbright said on NBC's "Meet the Press." "...It's the Congress that has undermined the whole idea of detente.

"Now coming down to the present, it's my distinct impression, as I interpret what I read and hear, that our own military is one of the principal obstacles to putting forward agreements on strategic arms which are reasonable and acceptable."

Fulbright, who lost his bid for re-election in the recent Arkansas Democratic primaries, conceded he has been losing battles in the Senate to Jackson and other proponents of tough dealing with the Soviets.

"I don't think the Congress at the moment is really representative of the mood of the country," he said. "I believe people in this country support detente but it is not effective in the Congress."

Federal Spending Woes Attributed to Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's top economic advisor and two senators agree that federal spending is too high, and Sen William Proxmire says it is the fault of the military.

Proxmire, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, today charged Budget Director Roy Ash with making "a weak and vacillating effort" to cut the fiscal 1975 budget.

The Wisconsin Democrat said Ash could make an "all-out fight" to trim the budget and reduce inflation by cutting military spending, but that the administration considered the defense and military foreign aid "a sacred cow."

Herbert Stein, who is resigning as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisoorrs this fall, blamed the public for inflation and said new tax increases might be forthcoming unless the government curbed its spending.

Stein said on CBS' "Face the Nation" that the admistration would try to practice the "old time religion" economic policy of a balanced budget, strict spending limits, tight monetary policy and no tax reductions.

"We want a course of moderation and we think we can achieve that without a tax increase. But...if the expenditure side is not kept under control, we will have to consider tax increases," Stein said.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., agreed in an interview on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

"I think that it is absolutely necessary for the United States to put its financial house in order," Curtis said. "By that I mean return to a balanced budget now if w eare going to halt inflation.

Continues Briefing in London

(Combined Wire Services)

LONDON — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew from West Germany to London today for talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and key members of his cabinet on world financial and energy problems and President Nixin's trip to Moscow.

Kissinger's schedule included meetings with Foreign Minister James Callaghan, Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey, Energy Minister Eric Varley and Gordon Richardson, governor of the Bank of England.

The American visitor also was to meet with former Prime Minister Edward Heath, leader of the opposition Conservative party.

Kissinger goes Tuesday to Madrid, the last scheduled stop on his tour to brief West European leaders on Nixon's summit trip.

Before going to Munich, Kissinger visited Brussels, Paris and Rome to brief political leaders on the results of President Nixon's summit talks in Moscow.

The secretary of state managed to get in some work during his Munich weekend, conferring with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher and President Walter Scheel.

Scheel, foreign minister until his inauguration as president a week ago, had often dealt with Kissinger, but their relationship was marked by a serious misunderstanding earlier this year.

At the time, Kissinger said Scheel had indicated the Common Market would reject economic negotiations with the Arab oil-producing states. Scheel insisted there was never such an understanding.

At the height of the controversy, the secretary accused the Europeans of turning their backs on Washington. Kissinger and Scheel, however, later patched up their differences.

Kissinger took time out over the weekend to watch the last two matches of the World Cup soccer tournament. West Germany beat Holland, 2-1, Sunday in the final.

In addition to watching his favorite sport, he relaxed over typical Bavarian meals similar to the ones he used to eat as a boy in West Germany.

A spokesman for Schmidt said Kissinger left the chancellor with the impression the East and West successfully could wind up the European Conference on Security and Cooperation by year's end.

The West Germans had been deeply sceptical of the chances of the conference, aimed at improving relations between NATO and the Communist Warsaw Pact.

Nixon, Ford Huddling Today

WASHINGTON (AP — Back in the White House where he has spent only two full days in the past month, President Nixon plans a "very active" Washington schedule of meetings and conferences this week.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who described the schedule, said Nixon would meet today with Vice President Gerald R. Ford and on Tuesday with five of his top economic advisors.

On Wednesday morning Nixon meets with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders on his June-July trips to the Middle East and the Soviet Union, Ziegler said.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, due here Tuesday after reporting to European leaders on the Soviet journey, will join the President in briefing the congressional delegation.

Ziegler said Nixon also will meet with the Cabinet Thursday.

Nixon is expected to fly to his San Clemente, Calif., home late in the week for a stay of about 10 days. He flew here from Key Biscayne, Fla., Sunday night.

Unannounced, Nixon flew by helicopter Sunday to Palm Beach to inspect the palatial Mar-A-Lago estate willed to the government by Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post, who died last year. The 17-acre spread, which boasts its own nine-hole golf course, will be available as a presidential retreat, meeting place and guest house for visiting world leaders.

White House sources discounted the possibility Nixon might be thinking of selling his Key Biscayne properties to meet heavy financial obligations, such as payment of back taxes and the mortgage on his California estate.

However, should he ever decide on such a move, the 115-room Palm Beach mansion could be made available as a Florida White House.

Nixon, who personally overruled plans to take a small group of newsmen with him to Palm Beach, was said to have spent half an hour inspecting the property with Florida neighbor C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo and two White House aides.

On Sunday afternoon, Nixon took a swim, walked on the sand beach outside his Key Biscayne compound, and cruised for 40 minutes on Biscayne Bay aboard Rebozo's houseboat, Coco Lobo III.

The President and Mrs. Nixon, accompanied by Rebozo, were discovered by newsmen Saturday night dining at the Key Biscayne Hotel, where Nixon thrilled a 10-year-old Florida girl by whirling her onto the dance floor.
